HUGE AUDITORIUM IS PLANNED FOR HIGH SCHOOL

Detailed Description Shows Structure Will Provide Room for Crowds

Glendale Union high school in its new plant will have one of the largest auditoriums in southern California.

Complete plans for this auditorium have been prepared under the direction of George M. Lindsey of 710 East Broadway and John C. Austin of Los Angeles, who are being employed as architects by the high school board of trustees.

Owing to the fact that the auditorium cannot be enlarged later, Mr. Austin called attention to the fact that it would be necessary to build it full size in the first place.

The exterior of the auditorium will be nexagonal in shape. The building housing it will be located immediately behind the main entrance to the school.

The total seating capacity will be in the neighborhood of 2750. This is considered by the architects a maximum for an auditorium.

Arrangement of Seats

The first floor will contain about 1480 seats divided by six aisles. State law prevents more than fourteen seats being placed between aisles. Rows will be separated by the regulation distance.

The balcony will accommodate about 950 seats, every one of which will be placed so that its occupant can command a good view of the stage.

The gallery will contain seats for about 450, all of which will be in a direct line with the center of the stage.

The stage itself is to be large enough for anything which the school or community may desire to present upon it including grand opera. The width of the proscenium arch is to be forty-five feet. The width of the stage proper will be sixty-eight feet. The depth of the stage behind the proscenium

G. W. Smirl Returns From Middle West

G. W. Smirl of 405 West Ivy street returned Wednesday from a trip through the middle west, having come by train from Cheyenne, Wyo.

Mr. Smirl, with his wife and son, W. P. Smirl, left Glendale May 8 for a trip by automobile. They drove north to Sacramento, and upon their arrival there found that the roads east were impassable. They turned back as far as Bakersfield and drove east across the desert, through Arizona, New Mexico and Texas, to Sapulpa, Okla., Mrs. Smirl's former home.

After visiting there for a short time, the party traveled north to Independence, Kan., where Mr. Smirl formerly lived, and stayed there two days.

On the return trip the party visited Denver, Colorado Springs and Manitou, Colo. When they arrived at Cheyenne, Mr. Smirl decided that camping out did not agree with him, and returned to Glendale by train.

Mrs. Smirl and W. P. Smirl are to finish the trip in the automobile, and are now stopping at Rock Springs, Wyo.

Kenneth Whaley In Orchestra at Park

Kenneth Whaley of 233 North Maryland avenue left yesterday for Yellowstone National park. He will play with the orchestra at Mammoth hotel there for the summer season. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whaley, are planning to motor there then and return with him in time that he may enter the fall class at the Pasadena Institute of Technology.

Expedition Goes to Observe Sun Eclipse

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Headed by Dr. W. W. Campbell, director of Lick observatory, the third section of the University of California expedition which will observe the total eclipse of the sun September 21, on Ninety-mile Beach, Australia, one of the most out of the way places in the world, sailed today on the steamer Tahiti for Australia. The Australian government will provide vessels to take the party to and from the beach.

NO DELAY TO MAILS

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Serious interference by railroad strikers in the movement of mail trains "is not regarded as probable," the postoffice department announced today. Only a few reports of attempts to hamper trains carrying mails have been brought to the department's attention.

Division superintendents and postal inspectors have been instructed to report to the department any attempts to delay trains transporting mail, and offenders will be dealt with drastically, the department said.

Watermelon Feed for Glendale Boys at Three Places

"Ho, Skinny, come on over—wattamelons!"

A watermelon feed for all the kids in Glendale who care to mess up their ears will be held Saturday afternoon.

To divide up the scramble the event will be held in three places at once: One on the playgrounds of the Intermediate, the Cerritos and the Central schools.

The watermelons will be purchased by the playground directors: A. T. Blanford, Raymond F. Swaim of Burbank and Manning L. Alvas.

The playground at the Intermediate school is being better patronized than those of the other two schools largely because the boys have not learned yet that they are open. The hours of play are from 1 to 6 o'clock Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons and from 1 to 7 o'clock on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

STRONG SWIMMER IS VICTIM OF LAKE

Harry A. Johnson, Survivor of Many Shipwrecks, Taken on Holiday

Surviving several shipwrecks after having run away from his home in Norway at the tender age of 12 years, Harry A. Johnson, 37 years of age, a resident of 1845 South Brand boulevard, Glendale, lost his life in Elizabeth lake on Tuesday, July 4, 1922, at 1 p. m. while swimming.

Cofntrary to first reports from the mountain resort, Mr. Johnson died of heart failure and his drowning was not due to cramps. An inquest at the lake, near Lancaster, yesterday morning, revealed this fact and it was surmised that the 3700-foot altitude was too much for Mr. Johnson's heart after swimming across the lake.

Dynamite Lake

His body was recovered 24 hours after death, ranchers and Southern California Edison power line employes leaving their work to aid in the search. Wednesday morning 50 sticks of dynamite were used in clearing the lake of weeds to permit divers to work with grappling hooks.

Mrs. Charlotte Johnson, the widow, is prostrated with grief. Two children, Charles, aged 17, and Marian, aged 10, also survive and aided the workers in every way they could. The boy is high in his praise for the many kindnesses bestowed upon them in the hours of grief.

Funeral Saturday

The body has been brought from Lancaster to the L. G. Scovern Undertaking parlors here where funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in the Odd Fellows' cemetery at Los Angeles.

Mr. Johnson had been employed by the Robert E. Milsap Construction company of Los Angeles as a carpenter. He was known for his physical prowess and on account of his seafaring experience was considered an expert swimmer. He was a member of the I. O. O. F. lodge in Los Angeles and was known as a loving husband and kind father by his friends.

City Council Passes Firearms Ordinance

Machine guns can no longer be mounted on Fords in the city of Glendale.

Motor bandits in the future must leave their jackknives and cap pistols home when out for an evening's adventure.

Such will be the case if an ordinance introduced last night by Councilman A. H. Lapham is approved by the city council.

Highwaymen, second story gentry and footpads, please note:

"It shall be unlawful for any person except a regularly appointed police officer to wear or in any manner carry concealed upon or about his or her person or in or about any automobile or other vehicle any dirk, bowie knife, dagger, sword cane, loaded or unloaded gun, loaded or unloaded pistol, loaded or unloaded revolver or any other dangerous or deadly weapon in the city of Glendale without having first obtained or having at the time actually in his or her possession an unexpired permit to do so issued by the chief of police."

KILLED IN CLASH

VERA CRUZ, Mex., July 7.—A federal lieutenant was killed and twelve civilians seriously wounded in a clash here between a mob and troops. The trouble began when an attempt was made to arrest Heron Proal, an alleged Bolshevist leader of the strikers.

REGULARS ATTACK FORT

BELFAST, July 7.—Irish free state regulars have begun encircling movements against Inch fort in County Donegal, which had been seized by rebels, according to information from the "front" today. The fort is under siege and free staters believe they will be in control soon.

HOTEL COMMITTEE RECEIVES PRAISE FOR ACTIVITY

Much Actual Work Has to Be Done on Proposition, It Is Pointed Out

"The hotel committee has every reason to be proud of its work," declared President C. W. Ingledue of 632 East Broadway, who presided yesterday noon in the Broadway Inn at the weekly luncheon of the Eastside Advancement association.

"From the very first our meeting with the Chamber of Commerce directors seemed to be of the most pleasant nature," he remarked. "They seem to want to forget that there is any east and west Glendale and seem to consider that the hotel and the electric line of Glendale avenue are Glendale matters."

Mr. Ingledue reminded those present, however, that much of the actual work of putting the project over would have to be furnished by the members of their own association.

Reports Donations

About $200 in subscriptions to the electric line bonus during the past week was reported by John P. Lampert of 622 East Broadway, who admitted that donations were not being received very rapidly. He estimated that about $5500 was on hand toward the total of $25,000.

"We haven't gone forward very fast on that matter," asserted Mr. Ingledue. "This thing ought not to lag any longer."

A suggestion was made by J. L. S. Perch of 723 East Broadway that the association should get in touch with Attorney Harry C. Levey of 811 South Glendale avenue, president of the Glendale Avenue Improvement association and find out what attempt was being made to raise funds along the southern right of way.

Attention was called by Mr. Ingledue that all of the donations received so far have come from those living around Broadway.

W. Goulding Faces Life Imprisonment

W. R. Goulding, a former employe of a local dyeing and cleaning establishment, today faces life imprisonment in the state's penitentiary for posing as the Glendale chief of police and then committing highway robbery.

He was convicted of these serious charges in Judge Russ Avery's department of the Los Angeles county superior court by a jury after a trial which lasted several days and called several Glendale police officials to the witness stand.

Chief of Police John D. Fraser states that one night early in June the complaining witness, Joseph L. Griffin, of 1111 North Second street, Los Angeles, while motoring with his daughter-in-law, became lost at Glendale avenue and Broadway. Goulding, who was loitering about, it is said, told them he was the "chief of police" and would show them the way to Los Angeles.

At the first convenient opportunity, according to testimony, he attacked and robbed Mr. Griffin. This was reported to the local department the next day and Chief Fraser questioned Patrolman La-Rock, who was on the beat at the time. He recollected Goulding was loitering about and when confronted by the Griffins, he was identified.

Pays Compliment to Municipal Plunge

R. W. Biddlecom, supervisor of the city swimming pool at the park at Patterson avenue and Kenilworth street, feels highly elated over the statement made to him by Mr. Goudy, engineer of the state board of health and inspector of swimming pools, who says that Glendale has the safest, best constructed and most sanitary plunge in California. The pool will be opened about July 15.

Mr. Biddlecom also made the statement to an Evening News reporter that several boys have been maliciously defacing the outside of the bathhouse buildings by throwing mud, and that they are known, and unless this is discontinued they will be refused admittance to the plunge.

Mrs. A. A. Bassett Hostess for Guild

The members of the Women's Guild of St. Mark's Episcopal church, of which Mrs. Mortimer Baker is president, met yesterday afternoon for a social session at the home of Mrs. A. A. Bassett, 1327 Valley View road, with twenty-seven present. At that time it was voted to have an all-day meeting and picnic the third Thursday of August at the home of Mrs. Hamilton on Kenneth road. The next regular meeting will be held in the guild hall the third Thursday of July. During the afternoon refreshments of punch and cakes were served to the guests.

Form Organization for Promotion of Large Hotel Here

A permanent organization to promote the new hotel was created last night at a joint meeting of the hotel committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the hotel committee of the Eastside Advancement association.

The executive committee includes: C. W. Ingledue, chairman; Roy L. Kent, secretary; S. C. Kinch, Mrs. Mabel L. Tight, Miss Myrtle Baldwin and J. L. S. Perch.

The session last night was attended by H. J. Tremain, who will lease the hotel; George A. Whitney of the Ross-Campbell company who has charge of the financial details, and B. T. Wilkie, vice-president and manager of the Universal Construction company.

THREE HOUR AUTO PARKING IS URGED

Large Number of Business Men Ask City Council to Amend Ordinance

No definite action was taken by the city council last night in regard to the parking ordinance.

A petition signed by 187 business men preferring a three-hour ordinance to a one-hour ordinance was submitted by E. P. Hayward of 142 South Brand boulevard, secretary of the Glendale Realty Board.

"Real estate dealers would be almost unanimous in favor of no parking ordinance at all," asserted Mr. Hayward. "However, we feel that the opinions of others should be considered.

The restricted territory covered in the petition lies from Colorado street to California avenue on Brand boulevard and from Everett street to Central avenue on Broadway.

"We believe in one uniform law for the business district so that it will not be confusing to out-of-town people as well as to some of our own people."

Matter of Majority

Upon motion of Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson, the petition was referred to City Manager W. H. Reeves, who was instructed to have the names checked and report later.

"It is not a matter of argument with me but a matter of majority," asserted Mr. Stephenson. "I am willing to listen to anything anyone has to say but signatures count more than words. The whole city council simply wants to give you people down there what you want."

"Been my position all along," said Councilman A. H. Lapham. "Simply trying to find out what you want."

A. G. Spohr of 101 North Brand boulevard reminded the council of the petition submitted at a recent session requesting a one-hour parking ordinance and called attention to the fact that the territory specified only included the stretch of Brand boulevard between Harvard street and Wilson avenue.

Adolph Zeitlin of 140 North Brand asserted his opinion that Glendale is not large enough for a parking ordinance and that it might cause shoppers to go to Los Angeles.

Ed Fairfield Made Assistant Fire Chief

Ed Fairfield, formerly captain at Fire Station No. 2, at Brand and Los Feliz Road, has been appointed assistant fire chief and is now stationed at Fire Station No. 1 on East Broadway.

Mr. Fairfield was chief of the fire department of Tropico before that city was taken into Glendale and since that time has been at the former Tropico station as a captain. He held the seniority of position as the oldest captain, in point of service, in the department.

Japanese Pastor to Give Movie Program

A social meeting of Japanese and American friends is to be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the South Glendale Presbyterian church.

Rev. Kawai, pastor of the Los Angeles Japanese Christian church is to present several interesting moving picture reels. There will be special music and singing.

OPPOSES CLOTURE RULE

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Opposition to the adoption of a cloture rule in the senate to speed up the tariff bill was voiced by Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, who declared himself opposed to restricting debate on the measure.

"It would be suicidal to shut off debate," Borah said. "It would be bad for the country and bad for the Republican party. You cannot stop debate on the tariff bill in the country at large though you may be able to shut off hearings in the senate. The country will be debating the tariff for the next ten years."

SELECT DELEGATES TO CONFERENCE AT PASADENA

Republican Representatives to Name Congress Candidate on July 12

A get-together meeting of Republicans in the Sixty-first Assembly district was held last night at the Glendale Union High school for the purpose of naming delegates to attend a conference at Pasadena, Wednesday, July 12, when a Republican candidate for congress will be named to be voted for at the primary election August 29.

The meeting last night was called to order by W. E. Evans, acting chairman of the Los Angeles County Republican Central Committee. On motion, Mr. Evans was chosen chairman of the meeting and C. A. Rudel secretary.

Chairman Evans explained that the Sixty-first Assembly district is entitled to sixty-seven delegates at the conference July 12 at Pasadena.

Make Apportionment

The fifteen members of the county central committee residing in the Sixty-first district automatically become delegates and the six members of the congressional district likewise automatically become members, and the one member of the Republican state central committee—leaving forty-five appointments to be made by last night's conference.

By friendly agreement the appointment was made as follows:

Glendale	15
Highland Park	12
Burbank	3
Van Nuys	2
Lankershim	2
Saugus	2
Antelope Valley	1
San Fernando	6
Tujunga	1

The chairman suggested that the persons in attendance from the various polling centers in the county get together and name their delegates. This suggestion was concurred in by all except San

Bride-Elect Receives Miscellaneous Shower

Miss Lila Shea of 1608 South Brand boulevard, who is to be married the latter part of this month to Richard Berlin of Montana, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. J. T. Beach on Atwater avenue, who was assisted as hostess by Miss Alberta Heisler. An array of gifts, both useful and beautiful, were presented to the bride-to-be.

The guests included Miss Lila Shea, Mrs. Sidney Simon, Mrs. Wayne Smith, Mrs. Noble Ripley, Mrs. Homer Wellman, Mrs. Martha Pearson, Miss Cecilia Lyon, Miss Ernestine Lyon, Miss Lila Webster, Mrs. Frank Starr, Mrs. J. T. Beach and Miss Alberta Heisler. Games were enjoyed and refreshments served at the close of the evening.

Three New Firemen In City Department

Several recent changes in the city fire department include the addition of three new firemen to the force.

H. L. Chrisman, Thomas W. Young and Joseph J. Becker are the new members of the department. Mr. Becker was formerly a mechanic in the city's garage back of Fire Station No. 1, where he is now stationed.

Other changes came near being made recently, according to Chief Lankford.

"I got 'bawled out' for putting out a fire down in Tropico on the Fourth," stated the chief. "Some people around there wanted to know why I didn't let the building burn down. It is evidently an eyesore around there and they threatened to 'fire' the whole department."

Miss Lenore Jones Hostess at Luncheon

Miss Lenore Jones entertained as luncheon guests Thursday noon members of her card club. The luncheon was served at the Jones home at 454 West Ivy street, and the afternoon was devoted to playing Five Hundred.

Pink and green was the color scheme used by Miss Jones, and instead of floral effects, she decorated the tables with pink and green candles and pink and green candy canes as favors.

Her guests were Mesdames Blanch Aageson, George Dewey, G.E. Jones, Jacob Kull, Hutchinson Bartley of Glendale, and Bal Rayburg of Los Angeles.

DECATUR GROWS QUIET

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 7.—The strike situation at Decatur apparently has quieted down and unless there are reports of renewed violence in connection with the strike of Wabash railroad shopmen there the state troops now mobilized will not be dispatched to that place.

Gross earnings of the company were $30,853,357.

ROB COMPANY MESSENGER OF $29,000 PAYROLL

MONTREAL, July 7.—A daring daylight holdup was executed in the heart of Montreal's financial section today when two armed men robbed the messenger of the Dominion Textile Company of the company payroll of $29,000 at the point of guns. The messenger had just come from the bank and was on his way back to the office.

OIL STATION ROBBED THIRD TIME IN FEW WEEKS

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—Entering an oil station at North Broadway and Pasadena avenue, two bandits held up C. B. MacGrashen, the attendant, locked him in a closet and rifled the cash register of $100 in cash, according to a report made to the police early today. It was the third time the oil station had been robbed within a few weeks.

MRS. PEACOCK LOSES TO MLLE. LENGLEN AT TENNIS

WIMBLEDON, July 7.—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen this afternoon defeated Mrs. Peacock in the semi-finals of the all-comers' open tennis championship. The score was 6-4, 6-1. The match was stopped by rain after the first set, in which the English woman amazed the crowd by the manner in which she forced the French champion to extend herself.

AMERICA'S DUTY TO HELP WORLD, SAYS HARDING

NEW CONCORD, O., July 7.—"It is America's duty to help the world get on its feet," President Harding declared here this afternoon in accepting the Muskingum college degree of doctor of laws. The president's address to the small student body of his old college extolled the principle of service. "College students of today," the president said, "can have no higher ideal than that of service to mankind."

CRISIS IN FOREST FIRE SITUATION IS OVER, BELIEF

SEATTLE, July 7.—With rain promised, rangers were hopeful today that the crisis in the forest fire situation in western Washington has been passed. A light southwest wind is proving an aid in fighting the several small fires, according to reports to the western forest fire station here. Several camps have been forced to shut down and the association is advocating a general shut-down if the predicted rain does not come within a few days.

HANG TWO FOR COMPLICITY IN SLAYING OF SHERIFF

SALEM, Ore., July 7.—John Rathi and Elvie D. Kirby were hanged at the state penitentiary here today for complicity in the murder of Sheriff Til Taylor at Pendleton, Ore., in July, 1920. Rathi was the first to be executed and he was pronounced dead thirteen minutes after the trap was sprung. Kirby was immediately taken to the scaffold and the second execution had been officially completed eleven minutes later. Both men went to their deaths professing their innocence.

COUPLE TO FACE TRIAL ON CHARGE OF CONSPIRACY

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—Preliminary hearing of the charges against Estelle Stewart, said to be the wife of Donald Duncan Stewart, both of whom are alleged to have conspired to steal the property of Norma L. Ehrenzeller in Boston, has been set for July 13, following the woman's arraignment before Justice Henshaw. The husband, who recently figured in charges of bigamy made against him, was to have been arraigned but could not be found by officers. The couple are charged with conspiracy in a fugitive warrant issued in Boston.

DE VALERA, AT LARGE, BEING SURROUNDED, CLAIM

DUBLIN, July 7.—With recruiting for the free state army in full swing and this city normal, except for some sniping, a heavy force of regulars marched southward today to clean up the guerillas in the southern counties. The regulars met with little opposition and captured many rebels. Eamonn de Valera, commander of the irregulars, is still at large, but the regulars are drawing in upon him. Erskine Childers, another irregular leader, is reported severely wounded. The situation in County Donegal is reported serious.

WATER POWER PROJECT HAS DELAY IN CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The dream of Henry Ford for creation of a monster industrial community at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, through control of the government's water power project there, will not materialize during the current session of congress, Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, chairman of the senate agricultural "bloc," predicted today. Although both the senate and house agreed to delay resumption of government construction on the project until October 1, in order to get an opportunity to vote on Ford's offer, Capper declared congress would not reach a decision on it this year.

PUTS CONTINUATION OF STRIKE UP TO U. S. BOARD

CHICAGO, July 7.—Responsibility for the further continuation of the strike of the 400,000 railroad men, and the resultant consequences were placed directly up to the United States railway labor board and railway executives today by B. M. Jewel, head of the strikers, in a statement made to the International News Service. The strikers, through their leaders, Jewel pointed out, have signified their willingness to meet in conference with authorized representatives with the view of settling the strike. These peace overtures, the strike leaders say, have been ignored both by the railway executives and the labor board.

DEMAND CALIFORNIA TROOPS IN STRIKE SITUATION

SACRAMENTO, July 7.—Demand for troops to proceed at once to Roseville, an important icing station on the Southern Pacific was made today upon Governor W. D. Stephens by a committee headed by Sheriff E. H. Gum of Placer county, who declared the situation resulting from the strike of shopmen had gotten beyond the control of local authorities. The committee declared an engineer was dying as a result of violence at the hands of strikers, that 150 cars of fruit were rotting because the icing plant is picketed and no refrigerator cars are being permitted to move by the strikers. The governor's office directed the sheriff to return to Roseville and make an effort to regain control of the situation, promising to send troops if he was unable to cope with conditions there.

IRVIN POTTS DIES AS RESULT OF AUTO CRASH

Riding With W. Winfield In Racing Car When the Accident Occurs

Irvin Potts, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Potts of La Canada, was another local victim of Fourth of July celebration. He died at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, June 5, 1922, as the result of injuries received in an automobile accident thirty miles this side of San Luis Obispo.

Young Potts was riding with William Winfield in Eddie Winfield's Ford racing machine which had taken part in the San Luis speed fiesta the afternoon of the Fourth. The boys were bringing the machine back to Glendale after having acted as mechanics in the race.

The light car got off the road and headed into the sand, turned over and pinned Potts beneath. Winfield escaped unscathed. The injured lad was removed to a hospital where it was found that his back had been broken and chest crushed. Life lingered for four hours.

Funeral Saturday

The body was taken to Los Angeles after the inquest, which was held yesterday. Funeral services are announced for tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial park.

Besides his parents, Irvin leaves five sisters, Frieda Margery, Barbara, Mary Jane and Baby, and two brothers, Demar and Burdette. He was known both in Glendale and La Canada for his musical talents, having sung before the Chamber of Commerce here with his sister, Frieda. He also played the violin and was a member of the Junior Music club of Glendale. He attended Glendale Union High school and since leaving that institution has been employed with his father in the latter's Los Angeles plumbing shop.

Council to Create City Title Searcher

Most people don't go out of their way to hunt bills. However, if you desire to ascertain whether there are any liens against local real estate you may apply to the city title searcher.

This office is being created by an ordinance introduced at last night's council meeting by Councilman A. H. Lapham.

If approved at its next reading, it will be filed by City Clerk A. J. VanWie who will receive an extra $25 a month for the service.

A portion of the ordinance is as follows:

"Any person wishing to have a search made of the city records of the city of Glendale for the purpose of ascertaining whether said records show the existence of liens against any real property may make application to the title searcher.

"Upon receipt of such application and fee, it shall be the duty of said title searcher to search the records in the several offices of the city of Glendale and ascertain therefrom whether such records show the existence of any liens for city taxes, state or local assessments, street improvement bonds or other matter against the real property described and to make and deliver to the applicant under his hand and the seal of the city of Glendale a certificate of such search.

"The city of Glendale is not to be responsible for any errors in such certificate and such certificate issued by the title searcher shall so state.

"The title searcher shall charge and collect for each search made by him a fee of $2. All fees so collected by the title searcher shall belong to the city of Glendale and shall be paid by him into the city treasury daily.

"Until otherwise provided by ordinance such title searchers shall receive a salary of $25 a month."

Mrs. Julia Hinsdale Has Interesting Life

Mrs. Julia M. Hindsdale, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. D. Ripley Jackson of 1800 South Brand boulevard, left yesterday evening to return to her home in Seattle.

Mrs. Hinsdale, says Mr. Jackson, now 83 years of age, has had a very interesting life. She spent most of her life in Washington, D. C., where her husband, now dead, was for years an officer of the United States treasury.

She has been intimately acquainted with at least fifteen presidents of the United States and their families, according to Mr. Jackson, and can relate many interesting stories of her life in Washington and of the personalities of the various presidents she has known.

Mrs. Hinsdale was much pleased with Glendale, its people and climate, it is understood, and hopes to return for another stay here in the near future.

REALTY IS ACTIVE IN EAGLE ROCK, DEALS SHOW

Building Campaign Gives Impetus to Buying; Other Items

Real estate and realtors are both active in Eagle Rock, a hurried resume of the situation today reveals.

With the announcement of several large building projects in yesterday's edition of The News, increased interest in the reports of what others are doing is noticeable along "realty row."

H. E. Barnum & Co. will commence three houses in the Dahlia Heights tract, having sold the last vacant one on the tract yesterday to J. C. Wilman for $6000, and he is moving in this week-end although the place is but partially completed. The property is located at 133 Virginia street. It was owned by Don Carney who found his investment to be an excellent one.

Other Deals Reported

Scholfield-Liles & Sheppard report that F. W. A. Greening of 425 Juanita avenue, Los Angeles, has purchased a lot on Rosemont avenue and it is his intention to immediately commence operations on a six-room bungalow where he will make his home.

H. S. Bourne and Son, managers of the Edwards & Wildey Eagle Rock office have leased the bungalow at 324 West Colorado boulevard to H. R. Squires of Los Angeles who expects to occupy it after July 9.

H. H. Bevis of 306 West Colorado boulevard is busy moving his office today to 222 West Colorado boulevard.

"Some feat," he says. "Yes, it is exactly 350 feet. And it is the second move in the last few months. I ought to build my office on wheels," he adds, "or hire a husky man to carry it about for me."

Map Shows Listings

Mr. Bevis has somewhat of an innovation—or is it an invention—in his office is a glass covered map of the city with colored pinheads representing the property he has for sale.

One color represents houses while another color shows that it is vacant. This gives the purchaser a good idea of the location of what he is going to see and saves many an idle trip on the part of Mr. Bevis.

While several real estate dealers are on their vacation now, those who are home are quite well satisfied with the summer activity.

Postoffice Branch Is Working Overtime

Eagle Rock's postoffice, a branch of Los Angeles, is a busy place these days. The increased business is so heavy that Superintendent M. W. Skiff and his force is working overtime. However, they have convenient quarters in which to work, which is worth a great deal.

Mrs. W. Carrico Now in Her New Home

Mrs. W. Carrico from Los Angeles has completed her home at 209 West Mariposa avenue, Eagle Rock, and is moving in this week. She formerly resided at Casper, Wyo., where her son is a superintendent of an oil company operating in the large fields in that vicinity.

MRS. BELLE BAKER IS ILL

Mrs. Belle Baker of 153 Ellenwood Drive, Eagle Rock, local agent for the Southern California Edison company, is confined to her home by a severe cold. E. C. Foster, special agent from the Pasadena office which handles all of the foothill district, is taking her place at the office.

TROOPS IN READINESS

SLATER, Mo., July 7.—Although the railroad strike situation remained quiet here today, it was reported that national guard troops at Boonville and Warrensburg, near here, had been mobilized and were in readiness to be sent to this city on short notice.

It was believed the units had been ordered held in readiness because of the appeal of Sheriff John A. Logsdon, who informed Governor Arthur M. Hyde that any attempt to re-open the Chicago and Alton shops would witness a recurrence of Wednesday's rioting, when eighteen strike-breakers were driven out of town and the shops closed.

Jack Millan Makes Vigorous Campaign For State Treasurer

JACK T. MILLAN

Of San Diego and candidate for state treasurer. He is city treasurer and tax collector of San Diego and is credited with having made an excellent record in office. In spite of permanent disability incurred during the Spanish-American war which forces him to use crutches, he is making a vigorous personal campaign.

Mrs. Jack T. Millan, state political campaign manager, is in Glendale today in furtherance of her husband's candidacy for state treasurer. Credited with a splendid record as city treasurer and tax collector of San Diego, Millan, with the able assistance of his wife, is waging an unusual campaign. Despite the fact that because of permanent disability incurred during the Spanish-American war which necessitates his using crutches, Millan is making one of the most vigorous personal campaigns in the history of state politics.

State Republican Central committeeman, Spanish-American war veteran, as well as an honorary member of the Disabled Veterans of World's War, Millan, through his keen knowledge of finances, is credited with saving the taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars and was unanimously re-elected treasurer and tax collector of San Diego.

"At present," stated Mrs. Millan today, "my husband is busily engaged at home with his official duties, but myself and several of our friends are carrying on."

Successful financial experience should be the essential qualification for state treasurer and Mr. Millan has and is handling millions annually of the people's money. In San Diego the citizens believe Mr. Millan deserves promotion and within two weeks over 10,000 voters joined the "Millan for State Treasurer club" and in addition to this active personal organizations are working in practically every section of the state.

Woman Ready to Kill In Protection Of Little Cottage

CHICAGO, July 7.—"I am going to protect this little home of ours, even if I have to kill some one to do it."

This was the emphatic declaration today of Mrs. Julia Gabel, 45, the "Barbara Fritchie of Burnside," who stood guard with a pistol over a little cottage in Burnside and staunchly upheld her husband in his decision to return to work in the shops of the Illinois Central railroad.

At a street corner nearby a score of striking shopmen congregated, scowling menacingly at the Gabel cottage. Some of them had been members of the mob that attempted to storm the little cottage last night. Mrs. Gabel, armed with a gun, stepped onto her front porch and defied them to molest her.

When Mrs. Gabel awoke this morning, however, she found that twenty of her flock of chickens were dead—poisoned.

"We've got to pay for our home," said Mrs. Gabel today. "Our savings are almost gone. We have counted for years on the pension John will get from the railroad.

"Now they call a strike. We've got to live. John was in the hospital with pneumonia for several months. We must meet our bills. We must go along some way. John is 59 years old now and he's not as strong as he used to be. I told him to go back to work.

"I'm going to protect our little home at all costs. If I have to kill some one to do it, I will kill."

HOME FROM WEEK-END

Mrs. Ella Richardson of 317 North Brand boulevard returned Wednesday from a week-end visit at Catalina Island, where she was a guest at the summer home of Mrs. John Bloeser of Los Angeles. The return trip was made in "The Irene," a new boat which has recently been purchased by Mrs. Bloeser's son, John Bloeser, Jr.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. William Shinkler of 616 North Central avenue are the proud parents of a daughter, weighing nine and a half pounds, born July 4, 1922. Mr. Shinkler is connected with the First National bank of Los Angeles, but they have made Glendale their home for some time.

FIRE TRUCK FOR SALE ATTRACTS KIDS' EYES

Even Eagle Rock City Clerk Wishes He Were Bold and Dashing Fireman

The red Ford motor fire engine that occupies a place of honor in the Eagle Rock city hall is a real temptation for a joy ride these days say W. J. Cook, city treasurer, and Benjamin B. Martsolf, city clerk.

"Its days are numbered in the front window," said Treasurer Cook with a deep sigh, "because it will have a garage of its own in the building. Yes, we'll miss the old red cart. Why, if Eagle Rock had a pair of dashing fire horses we'd keep them right here on file with the building permits and council minutes."

"That's right," echoed Clerk Martsolf. "I just love that fire engine and sometimes I'd rather be a bold and dashing fireman than an insignificant city official."

And just as they got to the second chorus, "Yes, we just love it," the ecstasy was broken by the appearance of a dirty-faced, barefooted, overall clad boy at the door.

Putting his hands on the side of the door screen he gazed inside and, turning, he yelled to the gang following in his footsteps:

"Hey, kids, c'mon 'n look at the fire engine for sale. Ain't she a whizz?"

Eagle Rock Locals

Miss Mary Bolton of 211 North Peyton avenue is entertaining as a guest Miss Kurtuma Coffey from Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Edwards of Royal Drive, Eagle Rock, have moved to their home at Hermosa Beach for the summer.

Mrs. George K. Walter of this city is enjoying the company of her brother, Jack Cleland. He came from Chicago last Wednesday.

A ten-day outing is being enjoyed by A. P. Wolf and family at Yosemite. They are residents of South Satsuma street, Eagle Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. William Weir and family of Kenilworth avenue left last Saturday for Hermosa Beach where they will spend the summer.

A new five-room bungalow is being built by J. P. Peltz of 112 West Sycamore. The house is going up next to the place he now resides. That's the right spirit!

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Thayer of San Francisco are spending the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Bannister of South Sierra Vista Drive, Eagle Rock.

A Spanish style home is being built by G. T. Peabody at 501 South College View Drive. He is a newcomer to this city, recently coming here from Paso Robles.

The W. C. T. U. organization of this city will meet one week from this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Henry Nash at 202 East Eagle avenue, at 2:30 o'clock.

Classmates of Yale are enjoying themselves this week at the George Sherwood home, 315 North Peyton avenue. J. B. Emerson of Birmingham, Ala., and Allen Johnson of New York are guests this week.

A group of Eagle Rock and Glendale young people are leaving Sunday for Santa Susanna where they will stay about twenty days working in the apricot orchards of that region. Those going are the Misses Katherine, Helen and Louanna McNary, Ruth Johnson, Helen Yeths, Alta Jury and Milton Steele, Clyde Carruth and Harry Marple of Glendale. Mrs. Scott will chaperon.

Surround de Valera In Hills, Reported

LONDON, July 7.—It is reported that Eamonn de Valera and Erskine Childers, with the Irish rebel followers, have been surrounded in the hills in the southern part of Dublin county, said a Dublin dispatch to The Evening News today. A Central News dispatch from Dublin said that Cathal Brugha, chief aide to De Valera, had died of his wounds in Mater hospital at 11 o'clock. Brugha was wounded in the fighting at Dublin Wednesday night.

Free state troops were victorious in a three-hour battle with irregulars at Boyle, according to a Dublin dispatch to the Star.

Blessington, near the border of County Wicklow and County Dublin, has been captured from the irregulars by Free Staters. Early reports put de Valera in that district.

Five British warships have dropped anchor in Cork harbor. Cork has now succeeded Dublin as the hot bed of rebellion against the Irish provisional government.

The Evening News Very Widely Read, Says Mrs. Fromm

"It certainly pays to advertise in The News," said Mrs. C. A. Fromm of 1219 East Wilson avenue, this morning. She recently gave The News a liner advertisement about the sale of apricots from her forty fine fruit trees.

"Just to show how widely The News is read," said Mrs. Fromm, "people came clear from Los Angeles and Alhambra in answer to the advertisement. And that isn't all of the story, for they're still coming, although I only ran the advertisement three times."

NELLIE A. WARNER ENGAGED TO WED

Marriage to Rev. Fred W. Hoffman to Occur During Month of August

At a surprise affair complimenting her last night at the Howard L. Brown home at 406 North Maryland avenue, Miss Nellie A. Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Warner of 320 North Orange street, well known member of the office staff at the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, announced her engagement and approaching marriage to Rev. Fred W. Hoffman of Ashland, Ky.

Mrs. Brown and a group of Miss Warner's girl friends surmised that the engagement announcement would be made shortly, and they arranged the surprise affair for last night. Miss Warner was invited for dinner by Mrs. Brown and later in the evening ten of her girl friends arrived, bringing gifts for a kitchen shower.

Gifts In Bouquets

Large bouquets of flowers decorated the Brown home and the bouquet idea was carried out in the presentation of the gifts. Each gift was wrapped in gay colored tissue paper and arranged in two large bouquets, which were presented to Miss Warner. Preceding the presentation of the gifts Master Longsdon Brown, acting the part of ring bearer, entered carrying a large pillow on which was a rubber washer to place on Miss Warner's finger as a wedding ring.

During the latter part of the evening the company hemmed dust clothes and tea towels for the honoree. The material used was in the California Christian Endeavor colors, orange and purple.

It was while the guests were sewing and enjoying an informal social time that Miss Warner told of her engagement and marriage which is to take place in August.

Formerly In Glendale

Rev. Hoffman, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hoffman of Oakland, is pastor of the Normal Presbyterian church in Ashland, Ky. For two years he was assistant to Rev. W. E. Edmonds at the Glendale Presbyterian church. He was also very active in state and county Christian Endeavor work and it was in these activities that he and Miss Warner became friends.

Those enjoying the affair last evening were Misses Nellie Warner, Mary St. Clair, Nancy St. Clair, Ethel Preston, Marie Maier, Martha Eyler, Inez Harrison, Mildred Elliott, Gladys Levy, Gertrude Heidiman, Margaret Pardon and Mrs. Brown.

Following their marriage the young couple will make their home in Ashland.

MOTHER IS GUEST

Mrs. A. H. Dibbern of 512 East Lomita avenue has as her guests today her mother, Mrs. S. K. Dorr and sisters, Mrs. C. R. Wilson and Mrs. Mary Cox, all of Los Angeles. Mrs. Dibbern is planning to entertain with a "500" party next Tuesday for the benefit of the building fund of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

UNIFORM LAW ON WORK ON STREETS IS PROPOSED

City Manager Reeves In Favor of Regulations Being Proposed

A uniform state law to cover municipal street improvements is being advocated in Southern California.

This suggestion is heartily endorsed by City Manager W. H. Reeves who believes that regulations regarding street work are entirely too complicated for the public welfare.

A communication from Walter Moore, Jr., of Los Angeles, manager of the Southern California branch of the Associated General Contractors of America, was read last night by Mr. Reeves to the city council.

It was referred back to Mr. Reeves and C. L. Hill, city engineer, to work out a definite city policy and take such action as they might deem advisable.

Pass Resolution

A resolution covering the situation was passed recently by the contractors' association as follows:

"Whereas special proceeding acts under which local improvements are made by the municipal corporations of this state are highly complicated are large in number and have minute technical differences, and

"Whereas, by reason of the foregoing facts it commonly happens that such proceedings when attempted often have in them some slight flaw which prevents carrying them through and there is thus entailed on the cities delay and expense, and

"Whereas, in other states the laws of this nature are commonly few in number and simple in character and we are convinced that such special improvement statutes of this state should be greatly simplified,

"Be it resolved, that this condition be brought to the attention of the officers of the several municipalities of this state to the end that they may take such steps as will obtain legislative relief from this condition.

"We strongly recommend that in the meantime and until such relief is had the cities exercise great care and as far as possible obtain expert assistance in the drafting of such special proceedings inasmuch as by this means disastrous delays will be prevented.

"Further be it resolved, that a copy of this resolution be mailed to the city council or board of trustees of each city in Southern California."

Makes Comment

In commenting upon this resolution a separate letter from Mr. Moore states: "The object of this resolution is to bring to your attention the necessity for one simple act and workable law governing proceedings for street improvements to take the place of the numerous complicated, technical and unsatisfactory laws now on the statute books under which the various municipalities have been operating in the past and which through their technical and complicated construction have filled our courts with litigation.

"We feel that this is of utmost importance to every municipality in the state as well as to the construction industry. Our organization will gladly co-operate in the framing of a law as we suggest should it meet with the approval of the cities interested.

"Until such a law is passed by our legislature we wish to suggest that all municipalities operating under the old laws employ only the most expert legal talent in drawing proceedings of this character in order to avoid if possible the enormous expense and delays boths to the city and the contractors through faulty proceedings."

YOUTHFUL COUPLE TO WED TONIGHT AT CHURCH

Miss Jennie June Will Be Bride of Tom Thumb at Elaborate Ceremony

Glendale people are wondering just what consternation might have reigned yesterday at the marriage license bureau in the Los Angeles city hall had the young couple, who are to star tonight in the ceremony at the Central Avenue Methodist church, appeared to secure a license.

Of course, Cupid's official representative over at the city hall is more or less unmoved by the romantic young things who come in for official permission. However, had he looked up from his records to meet the gaze of Glendale's bride and bridegroom of tonight he would undoubtedly experience a real thrill.

It would have been necessary for the stern clerk to lean clear across the counter and over the edge to look into the eyes of the blushing youth and his bashful sweetheart.

Then perhaps he would thunder out in his matter-of-fact basso, "Names?"

Would Cause Blushes

And the answer would come with another blush, "Tom Thumb and Jennie June. That is, we're Beryl Mitchell and Arthur Hagen, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Loren Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Hagen of Glendale and we're going to get married Friday night at 8 o'clock at the Central Avenue Methodist church in Glendale."

But the real climax of the scene would come when the second thundering question echoed round the office, "Ages?" And the blushing youth took the hand of his bashful sweetheart and smiling at each other they answered together, "We're 6!"

Apples are nutritious, vitalizing, of high medicinal value and are an aid to digestion.

Princess Mary's engagement ring was set with a single emerald, signifying success in love.

Members of the party were Miss Carol Duncan, Miss Murray Longley, Miss Gladys Sharpe, Miss Cymbel Taylor, Mrs. Fern Lytle, L. T. Rowley, Mrs. J. W. Sharpe, Miss Alice Lookabaugh and Mr. and Mrs. Richardson D. White.

Mrs. R. M. Brown and daughter, Miss Margaret, of 416 North Kenwood street, are leaving July 9 for an extended trip through the north and east. They will first visit San Francisco, Portland, Tacoma and Seattle. From the last named point, they will take passage by boat to Victoria and Vancouver, then via the Canadian Pacific to Lake Louise and the famous Hotel Bampf. From there to Bismarck, North Dakota, their former home, for a few days and will spend a week in Minneapolis and two weeks at Clearwater, Iowa. The return journey will be made over the Union Pacific, with short visits at various points. They expect to arrive at home at the end of two months.

In Midst of Industry
Political Upsets Ahead
Better Register Tonight
Elevating the Grocer

By Gil A. Cowan

SEVERAL Glendale business men were speaking the other day of a rather peculiar situation which exists in the public's mind which only goes to prove that "a prophet is not recognized by his own people."

"We seek industries that bring a hundred thousand dollar pay roll to this city and we do not appreciate those which already are here."

It is the truth, folks, that there are many industries in Glendale which are not considered such because they do not have "factory" or "cannery" attached to their names.

For instance, there is the Harrower Laboratory, the Glendale Laundry, the R. L. Kent Construction Company, the Glendale Sanitarium, The Glendale Evening News and any number of concerns whose payrolls mount upwards or over the hundred thousand mark.

And nobody knows of it. Further, nobody seems to care a hang whether you spend a dime or a dollar here and what's more everyone else thinks the other fellow has the "easy game."

Now, then, for the sake of argument, if anyone thinks W. E. Hewitt of the Glendale Laundry doesn't have a battle royal with the invaders from other towns; if anyone has the notion that Mr. Kent's building or real estate departments are the only ones in the field; and if there is any doubt about The Glendale Evening News being in a sharply contested field—well, if anyone thinks that being in business in Glendale is one round of golf after another, just visit any of these establishments and disabuse your mind.

Far be it from the writer of this column to pose as a political prophet, but a big upset may be expected in this state at the coming primary election. There are so many factors in considering the candidates, and their strength with the people, that what you read today may be turned topsy-turvy tomorrow.

Friend Richardson, state treasurer, is going to give William Stephens a run for his money in the gubernatorial race and if the former doesn't win it is conceded that Glendale's Mattison B. Jones, if chosen by the Democrats, has a fighting chance to get in office.

"We can hammer h— out of Stephens," one of his staunchest supporters was heard to remark," "but we will have a hard job attacking Richardson who has made a record for economy and has the support of the majority of newspapers in the state."

Senator Hiram W. Johnson is being opposed by C. C. Moore, a big business man whom the public knows little about. The labor vote of the state is being registered "Republican" to beat Mr. Moore.

Now, what do you think of that?

While the politicians are busy building or mending fences, it is a good idea for people who expect to vote to get registered and ready to do or die in the battle of ballots.

A deputy registrar is at The Glendale Evening News office each evening from 6 to 9 o'clock, except Sundays, until the lists will close for the primaries.

If you are not registered, if you have changed your address or otherwise need to qualify as an elector, drop in some evening and get signed up.

It costs nothing but the time and that trouble is trivial compared to the benefits derived in having competent officials elected.

"John Smith, F. G. I.

"This ornate name may soon be sported by the corner grocer, who, just now, may lack a college education and its rewards, degrees and diplomas.

"Charles A. Elliott, who is a fellow of the Institute of Certified Grocers, London, England, although his home is now in Evansville, Ind., so intimated in a speech to the National Association of Retail Grocers at its annual convention in Cleveland," according to news received from J. Herbert Smith of Glendale, president of the state association and delegate to the national and British conventions.

"The 'F. G. I.,' he explained, would mean 'fellow of the grocers' institute,' and indicate to the general public that the aproned, spectacled guardian of the Stow Corners general store had secured a higher education in retail salesmanship, advertising, window dressing, bookkeeping, commercial law, knowledge of commodities, and a dozen isms.

"He advocated the founding of a grocers' institute in this country similar to the present institute in England, where there are nearly 5000 graduate grocers who may display their certificates and degrees in their stores."

HENRY TELLS HOW BEVERAGES ARE MADE PURE

Sierra Club Manufacturer Is Speaker at Rotary Club's Weekly Luncheon

"He profits most who serves the best."

That is one of the cardinal principles of the Rotary Club.

F. J. W. Henry of the Sierra Club beverage plant, who spoke before the local Rotarians yesterday noon believes he "serves the best," because when better beverages are made his plant will make them.

It was impressive to hear a business man tell of the precautions taken to insure the public a quality product after detailing the history of bottled beverages from their inception in Switzerland 100 years ago. Later Dr. Priestly, an Englishman, carbonated the spring water and in 1850 the first ginger ale was made in Belfast, Ireland.

Recent Improvements

The first bottling works was started in Charleston, S. C., and only recently have improvements been made in the methods that prevailed from the civil war days. Carbonic acid gas now comes in liquid form from distilleries and is non-injurious. Competition has made its purity quite dependable, according to Mr. Henry.

Describing the Sierra Club plant, which is located at the corner of Wilson avenue and Isabel street and now is recognized nationally as one of the foremost in the west, Mr. Henry stated that the great machine used for washing bottles represented an investment upwards of $15,000.

Other Costly Equipment

Sterilizing equipment recently installed cost $8500; the bottling machinery, automatic labeller, etc., all command high prices because of their patents while a good sized fortune is invested in bottles, boxes and other accessories.

The water used in Sierra Club beverages is electrically treated, filtered twice, allowed to settle any possible sediment, ozonated to eliminate the odor of chlorine or other foreign chemicals and doubly inspected before being passed on to the public from Seattle to the Imperial valley, Mr. Henry pointed out.

Pure Fruit Flavors

However, the health giving properties of Glendale's wonderful mountain water supply remains unchanged and at the present time the chemists are working to make all pure fruit flavors instead of "true fruit."

There are 14,000 beverage plants in the United States, the speaker stated, and forty are located in Los Angeles or vicinity. Of this number very few produce a standard product as, in Mr. Henry's own words, he congratulates himself every time he visits another plant. He added that there was little profit in the business and told of the breakages, etc., which must be charged to "profit and loss." "But for a Scotchman it is always 'loss,'" he said laughingly.

Some Long Drink

"More than four billion bottles of carbonated beverages are consumed annually in the United States" was one of his concluding statements which showed it to be one of the foremost industries of the country.

Visiting Rotarians who heard Mr. Henry both speak and sing, for he leads the club's choir of twenty-nine male voices, were introduced as follows: Ed Peterson of Parsons, Kans.; Charles F. Crick and Chief of Police N. A. Perry of Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Ed Thorpe of San Diego, and Frank S. Beavis and "Pat" Patterson of Los Angeles.

At the request of President Roy L. Kent, Paul Carson, organist at the Glendale Theatre, entertained with an impromptu piano number which was a medley of several request numbers.

Large Crowds Attend Sale of Dry Goods

The Glendale Dry Goods company at 115 East Broadway is having splendid crowds at their July clearance sale which was advertised in The Glendale Evening News. Mr. Holzman is more than pleased at the patronage. "Prices count with our customers," he said, "and we are offering real bargains. Our Saturday trade should be enormous."

Harry Girard Benefit to Be Big Success

Harry Girard's popularity will make the benefit to be given for him on July 16 at the Glendale Theatre a huge success, according to Mayor Spencer Robinson, who stated last night that three individuals have each requested $100 worth of tickets and that one organization has announced its intention of taking $500 worth.

Mrs. Lena Altman of Pensacola, Fla., has been appointed an assistant United States district attorney.

Efforts Being Made to Abolish Klans

LOS ANGELES, July 7—Active steps to abolish Ku Klux Klan locals and the revelation that the "invisible empire" has deserted the Kern county oil fields came swiftly on the heels of the conviction and sentencing of John Vitelle, at Taft, for Klan activities, according to information revealed here today from points throughout Southern California.

Apparently encouraged by the conviction of Vitelle a movement was started in Imperial county to put the Klan out of business in the Imperial valley, it was learned.

T. D. McCall, secretary of the Imperial county taxpayers' association, announced plans to call Attorney-General U. S. Webb to take charge of the district attorney's office to oust Ku Klux Klan members holding office in the county and to co-operate with Superior Judge Franklin D. Cole in investigating the Klan before a new grand jury.

VISITS FRIENDS HERE

Mrs. W. M. Upton of Los Angeles, who has been visiting at the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Norton of 801 East Wilson avenue for the past two months, left yesterday for Oakland, where she expects to spend several weeks visiting with relatives. From that city she will go north through Oregon and Washington, planning to return to her home in Los Angeles the latter part of the summer.

Secretary Denby Is Favorably Received

TOKIO, July 7.—The reaction of Japan to the visit of Secretary of the Navy Denby has been distinctly favorable and he has made a tremendous impression on the press, which hails him as a friend of Japan working for the peace of the Pacific. It is pointed out that his visit will promote friendship and lead to future arms limitation.

The American party and Japanese officials decorated the Perry monument today and a grove of American oaks was planted around the monument.

Settle Article 27 of Mexico Constitution

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The recent decision of the Mexican supreme court definitely and completely establishes the fact that article 27 of the Mexican constitution cannot be given a retroactive or confiscatory effect, according to an official announcement made public by the Mexican embassy here today.

The opinion, rendered on May 12 and being the fifth of this nature, continues:

"Juridic basis has been established which shall serve in the future as a basis for interpretation of the law."

Dublin Once Again Resumes Normal Life

DUBLIN, July 7. — Although there was desultory sniping throughout Dublin today, the city is quickly resuming normal life. Hundreds of youths, responding to Michael Collins' call for volunteers, are enlisting in the regular army for six months' active service against the rebels in the provinces.

An unconfirmed report is in circulation that de Valera has been wounded. He is understood to be near Blessington, in the northern part of County Wicklow, at the head of a band of rebels.

More than 700 irregulars are held prisoners here by free staters. The free staters now claim control of County Roscommon, County Longford, East Mayo, County Westmeath and County Sligo.

Irregulars who were defeated in a sharp engagement at Delvin fled to Boyle, in County Roscommon, where they made a stubborn stand but were dispersed.

HERE FROM LITTLE ROCK

Miss Audrey Chrisp of Little Rock, Ark., was the guest yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Brice of 304 North Kenwood street. The young lady was formerly a neighbor of the Brices in the southern city, she having been a close friend of Mr. and Mrs. Brice's daughter, Mrs. Clark Christy. Miss Chrisp, who is enjoying a tour of the Pacific coast with her grandmother, Mrs. H. S. Williams, is at present a guest of friends in Los Angeles.

Local Shrine Club Will Meet Tonight

The members of the Shrine club of Glendale will hold a business and social meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. President E. F. Heiser states that an important business session is to be held. A special program of local talent is being arranged by the entertainment committee, of which L. H. Wilson is chairman. A buffet supper will be served after the program.

Secretary Charles Hahn states that as this is the first meeting since the convention of the Imperial Council at San Francisco last month that there should be some interesting reports given by those who attended.

French Fight Russ and German Dances

PARIS.—With France bitterly opposed to anything that smacks of German origin, and attempting to block Russian ambitions at every turn, the spring theatre season in Paris nevertheless opened with a series of Wagnerian operas at the Theatre des Champs Elysees and Serge de Diaghiliew's Russian ballet the center of attention at the Opera.

Among new works of the ballet are Tchaikowsky's "La Belle au Bois Dormant" and Strawinsky's "Le Renard" and "Marva." Mlle. Trefilova, Petrograd star before the war; Idyowsky, successor of Nijinsky, and Mlle. Nijinsky, sister of the famous dancer, dance chief roles.

'LITTLE EVA' LIVES AGAIN IN FILM PRODUCTION

Glendale Theatre Offering Gareth Hughes as Star of 'Uncle Tom' Tale

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" has come to the screen as a play within a play in "Little Eva Ascends," the latest Gareth Hughes starring picture, which will be seen at the Glendale Theatre today and tomorrow.

The "Uncle Tom" part of the picture is not one of these "super-special" productions with the old story developed and decorated almost beyond recognition of the play, but the sort of "Uncle Tom" that almost everybody knows. It isn't as unpretentious as the "Uncle Tom" of the tent shows. It is a picture with all the thrill of the historic melodrama preserved and made more appealing by the addition of a humorous story of barnstorming. It is an artistically improved one-night stand "Uncle Tom"; the "Uncle Tom" as presented by hundreds of companies uncounted thousands of times at the local opera houses throughout the country.

"Little Eva Ascends" appeared first as a short story by Thomas Beer.

Boston's Oldest Man Is Past 118 Years

NORTH EASTON, Mass.—Charles H. Munroe, who has just celebrated his 118th birthday anniversary, is now the oldest resident in the state.

Munroe is well up in the events of the day and does not believe in the Volstead act, chews and smokes and appreciates a good cigar. For a man of his years he enjoys good health, though he would get around much better only for a crick in his back. For many years he followed the occupation of farming in Roxbury, Ashland and also in North Easton.

Munroe was never married, and he attributes his long lige to regular exercise and good habits.

ADVANTAGE FOR WARD

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 7.—The defense in the case of Walter S. Ward, the young millionaire charged with the murder of Clarence Peters, former sailor, won an advantage when Supreme Court Justice Morschauser signed an order directing District Attorney Fred E. Weeks of Westchester county to show cause why the murder indictment against Ward should not be dismissed. The order is returnable at 10 o'clock Saturday morning before Supreme Court Justice A. H. R. Zeger, in Newburgh, N. Y.

Traffic Patrolmen Tabooed In France; Semaphores Cheap

PARIS.—Paris, which only recently installed traffic policemen, is preparing to replace some of them with mechanical semaphores and red-green-white lights.

Had 'em for years on Fifth avenue? Yes, but Paris is a different story. Critics of Parisian traffic regulations are asked by the Paris police department to try to devise a means to block signal a horde of temperamental taxi drivers through a "carrefour." A "carrefour" is a place where streets come together.

It took half a dozen patrolmen under the recently established system even to attempt to preserve part order at a "carrefour." But there are any number of "carrefours" and no surplus policemen. Therefore, "Go" and "Stop" signals will replace men, and red and green lights at each exit from a "carrefour" will make new, strange constellations on the Parisian horizon at night.

Another reason for the new installation is the temperament of the Parisian. He makes an admirable detective, but an atrociously bad "traffic cop." He tries to please everybody, coming in all directions. He stops all traffic to tell a pretty girl the way to the Louvre. He cannot resist chatting with his friends while taxis honk. He will argue with a law-breaker all afternoon and then come to no decision about it. He is charming, and dashing, and polite—but the one-man traffic force of any New Mexico village could give him cards and spades at running things on the Avenue de l'Opera.

In addition to the "carrefours," the recently established one-way streets will also be provided with mechanical traffic guides.

Offers Prize for Best Street Cleaning Plan

BOSTON, Mass.—Mayor Curley has offered a cash prize of $500 for the best technical plan for street cleaning and the collection of garbage and ashes in the city. In announcing the cash prize Mayor Curley has in mind the technical problem that it involves in place of the old question of whether the work can be done better by contract labor or by the city department forces.

The competition is limited to the students of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The essays are directed to the budget commissioner, Charles J. Fox.

WIDENING OF HIGHWAY

LOS ANGELES, July 7. — Bids were opened by the state highway commission for the widening of a section of the San Diego boulevard between San Juan Capistrano and the Orange county line, according to an announcement by N. DUBLIN, July 7.—Ireland is facing famine. That is the hard truth that everybody is beginning to recognize. This is happening in the country that, during the critical period of the world war exported the greatest number of tons of foodstuffs next to the United States.

This spring, only for the energetic action of Dail Eireann, thousands would have died in the rocky heights of Connemara. Foodstuffs were sent into the hungry districts and $500,000 voted to save the situation. Next winter and spring things out in the west of Ireland will be much worse. Last summer the migratory laborers from Connaught were able to get work as usual in England and Scotland. Today, owing to the unemployment in Britain, there is no work for them, and the usual hard-earned few pounds which were brought home to support the families in Connemara during the winter months will be missing. Those little plots of ground which the laborers out there till between the rocks and crags would in no way support a family for anything like a month.

But if Connemara's position is bad indeed, things in several other parts of Ireland are not much better. With the political heat over the treaty farmers' sons went soldiering instead of tilling and sowing seeds. A good spring has been followed by a particularly dry summer; for want of rain, promising crops have been withered up.

The forthcoming autumn will see the smallest harvest Ireland has experienced for many a day. This will result in high food prices, with the consequent reflection on the towns and cities. Even now Dublin is the most expensive city in Europe to live in. Irish articles are sold in London and several other parts of England at half what they cost in Dublin. This, of course, has its effect upon poor Irish town dwellers, and poverty is rife. What will it be next winter, when foodstuffs will probably be twice what they are today? At this time of the year in Ireland unemployment is usually at its minimum, but now there is one man out of every six without work. By October this number will probably rise to one in four or even one in three.

There is only one chance for the country, and that is for the leaders to give over talking politics and get on with the work. The workers are daily becoming desperate and see no hope unless some kind of national unity is established. All business enterprise, which took a bound ahead when the treaty was signed last December, has ceased. Building has been suspended, almost throughout the country. Industries which have been waiting to blossom forth when Ireland would settle down to normal conditions, are still in abeyance. Enterprise everywhere stopped.

The next few months will be critical for Ireland, but bad as things are, even now the situation can be saved by national co-operation of all parties.

Cliff Homes' Ruins Used to Make Violins

AZTEC, N. M.—Valuable violins are being manufactured from wood taken from the ruins of cliff-dwellers, near this city.

While excavating recently Carl Morris, research investigator for the Smithsonian Institute, found a number of perfectly preserved timbers, which are believed to have been used in constructing the homes of the cliff-dwellers.

The timbers were estimated to be over 100 years old, and, due to the dry, hot climate that prevails in the vicinity of the ruins, the wood has become so well seasoned that high-class violins are being made from it which have a tone, it is said, equal to that of an instrument that has been in use for a number of years.

The instruments are all of fine quality and are bringing high prices.

Fined for Falsely Using Lodge Emblem

ST. LOUIS. Mo.—James B. Walker is doing penance in the workhouse today, ruefully reviewing in his mind the numerous injunctions against wearing false plumage.

Walker was taken into camp following complaints that he was borrowing money under the guise of a lodge member. He pleaded guilty in court and was sentenced to 30 days in jail for unlawfully wearing the emblem of a secret society.

Walker told Judge Miller he was going to get married as soon as he was discharged.

"Isn't the girl taking a chance?" asked his honor.

"I don't think so," Walker replied. "I'm through with this stuff."

BANDIT GETS $2415

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—Backing the president and a stenographer against the wall, a masked bandit entered the office of the Western Fruit company store here and escaped with $2415. Tony Sonsome, the president, was counting the money on a desk when the robber entered.

Twisted Cords

Running through the telephone cord are a number of delicate, flexible wires.

"Kinks" are formed when this cord is allowed to become twisted, and some of these wires may be bent or broken.

This means a "noisy" telephone line. You cannot hear or be heard as well. In fact, a twisted cord may cause a complete interruption of your service.

Keeping the telephone cord straight will give you greater satisfaction in the use of your telephone.

Demonstration of an entirely new kind of soap

Takes the place of bar soap for the regular family wash

SOAP for the family washing different from anything you have ever used.

Soap so pure and cleansing that just soaking clothes in its big, lasting suds loosens the dirt. Only a few pieces need to be rubbed—the very dirtiest. This is why Rinso is taking the place of bar soap in the family wash. Rinso suds work down into every fold and fibre, loosening the dirt without weakening a single thread. Use enough Rinso and you'll find that, at every step of the family wash, Rinso saves time and work.

As remarkable for the family wash as LUX is for fine laundering.

Be sure to see this demonstration. Learn the easy way to do your hardest job.

ARCHDEACON HITS SLOVENLY DRESS OF PREACHERS

Manners of Pastors Should Create Restraint Among Others, Is View

By THOMAS C. WATSON
For International News Service.

LONDON, July 7.—The young "sky pilots" of the English Episcopal Church have just been severely taken to task by one of their archdeacons for slovenliness in dress and manners.

Some of them have committed the heinous "sin" of walking up to the old lych gate in the country churches smoking a pipe and then sacrilegiously knocking the ashes therefrom on the hallowed posts of the entrance way.

"This must stop," says the Archdeacon of Rochester. He carries on his threat that there will be no preferments in the way of minor canonries or well stipened rectories for those who transgress from the mild mannered behavior which the ministers of the gospel must at all times affect.

Set Apart, Claim

"There is a tendency," says the archdeacon, "to discard the ordinary clerical dress and to appear before the world as ordinary laymen. Such a change in the habits and conventions of centuries should surely not be adopted in a careless spirit, or in a merely blind following of fashion.

"Our vocation sets us apart and makes certain things in dress, manners and deportment, which may be lawful to other men, inexpedient to us. There is a danger that many of us are adopting a lower tone.

"I do not want the mild-mannered young curate to return, like the Rev. Robert Spalding in 'The Private Secretary.' That character was responsible a generation ago for a popular belief that clergymen were not as other men, but were merely half men.

"But the war changed that. On the battleship and in the trenches the clergy shared the hardships of the ordinary soldier. Thus they were saved from the slur that they were unmanly.

Feeling of Restraint

"But there was one kind of young padre who thought he was commending himself in the messroom and the barracks by behaving himself like other men. Because the men swore he thought they would like him better if he swore, and swear he did.

"I am convinced that that type of man made a mistake. True, that clergymen sometimes are under the impression that in certain circles their presence in clerical garb causes a feeling of restraint to come over a gathering. That is as it should be, and should not be made the excuse for throwing off the garb of their vocation and adopting the looseness of manners and speech of the layman."

WAR HERO LOSES LIFE

MT. CLEMONS, Mich., July 7.—Captain George C. Pinsley, world war hero of Richmond, Va., was burned to death when his airplane crashed to earth at Selfridge field here. The gasoline tank exploded in the crash. Pinsley's plane was traveling at an altitude of about 125 feet when he lost control in an effort to avoid striking a hangar. The body, burned to ashes, was found by fellow officers who rushed to his aid.

MASSACHUSETTS GIRL BECOMES FAMOUS AS DESIGNER OF RADIO

Miss Eunice L. Randall.

Graduate of Art Course, She Enters Into Work During World War and Makes Success

NEW YORK, July 7.—During the war women demonstrated their ability in all lines of work, and, of course, they have not been slow in taking up radio in the same zealous spirit. One of their sex, Miss Eunice L. Randall, who sends thousands of youngsters to the "Land of Nod" every Tuesday and Thursday night, is an example of this. She broadcasts bedtime stories from Medford-Hillside, Mass., to family circles thousands of miles away.

Miss Randall enjoys the reputation of being one of the pioneer figures in the development of radio broadcasting. She is known from coast to coast. Daytimes she is employed as a radio designer by a large radio corporation at Medford-Hillside and as far as known is the only woman radio designer in the industry today. Letters received by the corporation indicate that Miss Randall's stories are listened to by the young and old alike Not only does she regularly give the bedtime stories, but, on occasion of emergency she has even operated the broadcasting station.

Miss Randall is an accredited member of the American Radio Relay league and recently has installed a radio transmitting and receiving station at her home at Mattapoisett, Mass. Her set would compare with the station of any male amateur in the country. Her antenna system is of the umbrella type. The steel mast is 100 feet in height. The operating room is nearly half a mile from the aerial system.

On being questioned as to how she happened to enter the radio field she stated that during the war the male force enlisted, and the corporation was left without a designer. Miss Randall being a graduate of an art course, it simplified matters for her entry into radio designing. One of the officials declares Miss Randall's work is as good and much neater than that done by their male employes previously.

Friends Raise Funds for Mme. Vonsiatsky

PARIS.—Paris's Russian colony is raising funds to send Mrs. Linbov Vonsiatsky to America.

Mrs. Vonsiatsky, youthful, lithe Russian beauty, talks threateningly of her husband, Anastase Vonsiatsky, whom she determined to have prosecuted for bigamy. Vonsiatsky married Mrs. Marion Stephens, American heiress, in New York.

Russian friends say that in cases of bigamy it is often the custom in Russia for deserted wives to take the law into their own hands.

Mrs. Vonsiatsky lives at present with her brothers and sisters in Paris. She has been trying to get an American vise on her Russian passport.

LONG AIR JOURNEY

PARIS, July 7.—George Pelletier Doisy, French aviator, landed here safely at 6 o'clock last evening after negotiating a nonstop flight of a thousand miles over the Mediterranean from Tunis, on the northern coast of Africa. The trip was made in twelve hours. Doisy made the long air journey in a passenger plane.

Kansas City Will Have Air Terminal

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—One of the largest and most up-to date airdromes in the United States was virtually assured for Kansas City when army officers of the air service selected a tract of land here as a site for a proposed army airport.

The government recently appropriated money for the establishment of flying fields in ten of the principal cities of the United States. The land, according to stipulations at that time, was to be furnished by a corporation or community. Although numerous other cities have bid for similar airdromes, this urban community was the second one chosen. Boston was the first.

The Air Terminal Association, Inc., has purchased the site, which is the tract formerly owned by the George L. Compton estate. Captain Harry Thurber, quartermaster construction officer, of Fort Leavenworth, has asked for bids for the erection of hangars and other equipment necessary for the maintenance of Kansas City's new flying field. The site is composed of 153 acres.

Several prominent aviators and aviatrices have landed upon and "hopped off" of the new field, and they declare enthusiastically that the field will be an ideal location for "stopovers" for numerous birdmen.

Officials of the company which purchased the property stated that the ground at one end of the field will be turned over to the Flying Club of Kansas City, so that the club can build a club house there. They also said that the intention of the Air Terminal Association, Inc., was to establish aviation here in such a manner that its practicability will be unquestioned. Civilian flying as well as army flying will be encouraged, it was said.

Three army hangars will be built by the air service of the army and six others by the corporation which purchased the tract of land.

"The airdrome not only will be a government training school, but it will be open to former service pilots who are members of the reserve," declared Major Howard Wehrle, an official of the association. "If the Missouri National Guard decides to organize an air unit it will have this field for training purposes.

"The field will be there for all big air tournaments and undoubtedly will bring to Kansas City the most important things in the aeronautical line."

ATTACKED BY STRIKERS

CHICAGO, July 7.—Rioting by striking railroad employes was reported to the police as raging near the shops of the B. and O. on the south side. Shortly before this information was flashed to the police, John Kassal, 45, was attacked as he left the shops. He was taken to the county hospital with his skull fractured.

The straight and narrow path is often deserted after dark.

Dog Breaks Window In Leap After a Cat

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio.—It was late at night. A stray dog, roaming the streets, spied a cat sleeping in a window at Sam Mackshin's store, 811 West Federal street.

Apparently oblivious of the barrier, the dog tried to get to the cat. The canine's jump at the feline resulted in a shattered window glass, according to Mackshin's report to the police.

Women, on an average, have heads broader in proportion to their length and darker eyes and hair than men.

Chinch Bugs Destroy Part of Cereal Crop

WASHINGTON. — Fully $46,000,000 worth of wheat, corn, oats, grain sorghums and broom corn is destroyed each year by chinch bugs, department of agriculture officials declare.

Barriers of various kinds, they assert, are one of the most effective ways of controlling chinch bugs at wheat harvest time, when they migrate from the small grain fields to the row crop fields. Millions of the bugs, they add, also can be destroyed by using nicotine sulphate spray in the wheat stubble immediately following the binder.

Crook Who Posed As King Reported Dying

BARCELONA. — Antonio Llusia y Busi, international crook, who passed himself off as the king of Spain and cashed checks in banks the world voer, has been removed from prison to a hospital here. He is said to be dying. Busi has been married seven times, and has several times escaped from prisons. He is 32 years old.

Lemons are recommended to relieve feverish thirst in illness, for rheumatism, low fever, biliousness, coughs, colds and liver troubles.

TALENT OF YOUTHFUL SOPRANO IS PRAISED BY FAMED SINGER

Marion Talley

Lass of 15 Years Sings Way Into Hearts of Music Lovers; Hopes to Be Great Artist.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 7.—Beautiful, petite Marion Talley, a lass of 15, sang her way into the hearts of hundreds of music lovers here when she made her operatic debut with the Kansas City grand opera company.

The young girl's first appearance was in the stellar role of Arline in Balfe's "The Bohemian Girl." She received a tremendous ovation from her audience, who had listened spellbound while she flitted from note to note.

Although the youthful soprano has had slightly more than a year of vocal study, musical critics declare her voice possesses the beauty, power and range of an educated prima donna twice her age. She registers high F sharp with apparent ease.

Her second appearance was in the title role of "Mignon."

Marion has just completed her sophomore year in high school. She is of sober mein, intensely studious, and her features radiate youthful cheerfulness and optimism. She is not addicted to self-praise in the slightest degree.

Mme. Galli-Curci, who heard Marion sing recently, displayed a warm interest in her future plans and predicted a great career for her.

"I never heard so well-developed a voice in a girl of 15," said the distinguished diva. "Already she does many things well. Her phrasing shows musicianship of a high caliber."

"I am thankful every minute of each day for the gift of my voice," declares the little "song bird." "I know that it is a gift. I like to sing better than anything else in the world.

"I sincerely hope to become a great artst. Some day I want to sing with the Metropolitan opera company. If my singing brings joy into the lives of people in future years, as I hope that it will, I will be a very happy person.

"I feel that it is imperative that I study some place in the east. I don't care to journey abroad to study, because I think there are just as capable voice instructors in this country as in any foreign nation. I am planning to go to Chicago some time this fall to continue my vocal training, but I am not positive as yet who my teacher will be."

Marion has other musical ability. She has studied the violin for the past five years. She also plays the piano.

GLENDALE GIRL ON JOURNEY EAST TO SEE HARDING

Miss Gertrude Killick One of Party Leaving to Visit Many States

Miss Gertrude Killick of 421 Oak street, Glendale, left last Sunday morning with a party of friends on a transcontinental motor trip which will take them through some of the most scenic sections of the United States, back to Washington, D. C., where they will present credentials from Mayor Cryer of Los Angeles to President Harding, after which they will return home by way of Canada.

Included in the party accompanying Miss Killick are Miss Esther Bushan of Los Angeles, Robert Buckingham, Marcel Bushan and Mrs. S. M. Bushan all of Los Angeles. Miss Bushan became well known in southern California during the period of the war for her entertainment work given for Red Cross benefits in which Miss Killick always took an active part, and she is an honorary member of the Disabled Veterans of the World War.

On the trip east the party will visit the Grand Canyon of Arizona and Colorado and pass through the states of Kansas and Missouri. They will spend a few days in Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit, Philadelphia and New York visiting friends. From New York they will drop down to the national capital and visit the president and Senator Shortridge. They will then return north passing through New York state up into Canada at Montreal and Winnipeg and then along the Great Lake region through the Province of Alberta. They will touch Billings, Mont., for a prolonged visit and where the party will probably be recruited By other friends of Miss Bushan who will join them in their trip to the Yellowstone National Park of Wyoming.

Into British Columbia

The itinerary from the Yellowstone Park is not decided. The party will likely go north into British Columbia, if they have sufficient time but if not, will proceed to Salt Lake City, and thence into the Yosemite Valley, back to Los Angeles via San Francisco. It has been planned that the trip will extend over a period of ten weeks.

Before leaving last Sunday, Miss Bushan and Miss Killick called at Mayor Cryer's office in Los Angeles and obtained two letters from him, one to Senator Shortridge requesting the senator to use his kind influence at Washington in behalf of the young women so that they will be permitted to see all of the national capitol which they desire. The other letter was a personal one to President Harding, commending Miss Bushan for the splendid patriotic work she did during the war and requesting the president to grant the party a brief, informal interview.

ENDS LIFE IN LEAP

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—Despondent, following a serious operation, Miss Christine L. Anderson, 55, committed suicide by leaping from a window of the surgical ward on the fifth floor of the county hospital. The woman fell to a cement driveway and died instantly. Surgeons said practically every bone in her body was broken.

Great Legal Battle On Chemical Scandal

WASHINGTON, July 7. — A federal court spotlight will be relied on by the administration to reveal the government's action in disposing of alien property during the war, officials declared today.

According to the department of justice, the record disclosed an amazing disregard of the rights of aliens and of the government itself. Authority given by congress under the alien property act also will be shown, officials said.

Exposure in the courts of officials' acts which have led to misuse of funds and property held in trust by the government will come through a legal battle to secure the return of property, including valuable German patents now held by the Chemical Foundation.

The department of justice was ready to force the return of the patents by a suit in equity.

Acting upon President Harding's instructions, Col. Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian, had put into legal form the demand which he served upon Francis P. Garvin, now president of the Foundation and former alien property custodian.

The attitude of officials of the Foundation, defying the President and other officials, left the government to conclude that only the court, by upholding the president's position, can insure restoration of the valuable patents to the government, for such further disposition as congress may direct.

It was said that Mr. Garvin and former Attorney-General Palmer in their action had virtually challenged the government to a court contest and indicated an unwillingness to deliver the patents.

Court Document Flays Power of 'White Mule'

ATLANTA, Ga.—The kick in Lowndes county's particular brand of "white lightning" is paid a high tribute in a document filed with the Georgia Prison commission here seeking commutation of the death sentence of Dolphus Bell, negro, sentenced to die for the murder of Ed Kelly, another negro.

"Kelly persuaded Bell to take two drinks of 'white liquor' and when he had taken them Bell lost what little mind he had," the petition said.

"The two drinks absolutely paralyzed his mind and dethroned his reason. When he regained his reason the next day he found that he had killed his best friend."

Many a man thinks he is a shining light when he is only a flash in the pan.

President Hears of Industrial Strife

MARION, Ohio, July 7.—President Harding brought his Marion visit to a close yesterday and departed for Columbus, where he will make an over-night stay before proceeding on to the capital today.

Accompanying the president when he left was Attorney-General Daugherty, who joined the White House party here Wednesday night. Through the attorney-general the president was put in touch again with developments in the coal conference and the rail strike, and the belief strongly prevailed that the administration will be prepared to act soon after the return to the capital.

The attorney-general will motor clear through to Washington with the president, according to present plans. As the journey will consume three days, they will have ample opportunity to discuss the administration's line of procedure in the industrial situation.

The president left Marion yesterday morning to go to the country club, near Columbus, where he was the guest of the attorney-general at luncheon. It is understood a number of Ohio political leaders were at the club and it is likely that state political matters were discussed at some length, particularly the gubernatorial situation.

Bordeaux Mixture Is Used As Bug Killer

WASHINGTON. — The potato leafhopper, an insect pest which is a serious menace to potato crops, can be controlled by using Bordeaux mixture, according to the Department of Agriculture.

"Results of two years' work," said an official, "have shown that Bordeaux mixture will repel the leafhopper, control 'hopperburn' and is the best remedy."

Hubby Loses Fight Over Right to Boss

ELYRIA, Ohio.—Dispute as to who was boss of their home was aired in police court when the wife of John Halos had him arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct.

When Halos was informed by Mayor Jones that he was only half-boss, Halos remarked: "That's the trouble with this country. The women want to run everything."

Halos was fined the costs.

CITY HALTS WORK ON CONSTRUCTION OF BUILDING

F. B. Wilkins Is Told He Must Await Action on W. Broadway Opening

Can a citizen erect a building in the middle of a street?

F. B. Wilkins of 500 North Louise street says that he can if he owns the property.

E. G. Spaulding, superintendent of buildings for the city of Glendale, says that he cannot when the city intends to condemn the property in the near future for a public highway.

The controversy rages over the construction of a two-story, $6000 brick store building at 119 South Central avenue. This site formerly was occupied by the Bungalow grocery under the management of C. E. Boss who lived in a frame house in the rear of the store. A few weeks ago the stock and fixtures were moved out of the store and notice was posted that it would be reopened as soon as an addition had been built to the rear. The frame building was removed and plans were made to rush the work as rapidly as possible in order that the grocery business might be resumed soon.

Work Is Started

Under the belief that a permit would be issued to cover the building, foundations were laid and brick work was commenced under the supervision of May & Hellman, local contractors.

Permit to finish the work has now been denied by the city administration in view of the fact that 57 per cent of the property owners interested have signed petitions to extend Broadway west from Central avenue directly across this property.

The case was brought up at the session of the city council Monday night by Attorney W. Claire Anspach of 111 East Broadway, who sought to ascertain the attitude of the city administration in regard to the improvement.

No Basis for Damages

Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson expressed an opinion that Mr. Wilkins must be intending to attempt to collect damages from the city for the value of the building when the property is condemned.

Mr. Wilkins has been informed that he has no basis for such a case under the law. It is understood that he considers the actual commencement of street work in the near future somewhat dubious.

Councilman A. H. Lapham stated that he had signed one of the petitions for the street improvement and that he did not care to see any building constructed to block the right of way.

Mayor Spencer Robinson suggested that a delay of forty-five days would settle the matter one way or the other definitely.

Flappers Get Praise Of Woman Teacher

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Is the modern girl a home maker or a home breaker?

How do bare knees, painted lips and bobbed hair square up with the doctrine of home-made apple pie, biscuits and baby tending? What kind of a matrimonial bet is the modern maid and what chance for happiness does the man have who marries her?

A mighty good bet, says Miss Edna Kissinger, veteran teacher of domestic science at Soldan high school, St. Louis' best-known public secondary school. Miss Kissinger has been teaching Soldan girls the art of home-making for years, and in her opinion the modern girl will "stack up" against any of them.

"I should say unhesitatingly that the type of girl who passes through our classes is the most promising home-making material in the world," said Miss Kissinger. "The girls take naturally to domestic science. They are very proud of the hats and dresses they make here and the simple meals they learn to cook. I've never heard one of them complain about washing dishes."

Blame for the shortcomings of the modern girl is to be attributed to mothers, Miss Kissinger declared.

"Don't blame the girls," she said. "Blame the lack of home training. Let me tell you, too, that poor people offend as much in this respect as the rich.

"A busy mother frequently will not take time to teach her girl. It's easier and quicker to do things herself. In well-to-do homes the daughter doesn't dare go into the kitchen for fear of offending the cook. And when the time comes for a girl to go into a little home of her own her husband is the victim of her ignorance.

"No sane man would place his son in a position of great responsibility without giving him proper training. But hundreds of girls undertake the most important and highly specialized profession—without a moment's preparation.

"Remember, too, in discussing the training of girls for their work in the home, that demands upon them today are different from what they were in the past. A man doesn't want to come home to a grubby, tired household drudge who hasn't the energy left to 'fix up' and go to a movie. He wants a chum and a friend, as well as a housekeeper.

"Girls nowadays, as I see them, are intelligent, wide awake and ready to look life right square in the face. If I were a man I'd take a chance with a girl like that with much more confidence than with one of the ineffectual little goody-goodies of a generation ago."

FACE COAL SHORTAGE

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Serious coal shortages confront the New England and northwest sections of the country because of the delay in settling the coal strike, a cabinet officer was informed. In addition to this danger, officials declared, is the prospect of soaring prices of coal if the strike is not settled soon.

STUDY NEW DOCTRINE

CLEVELAND, July 7.—Attorneys for the International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers and eight Cleveland brewing companies today are studying the effect of the decision handed down in common pleas court by Judge Fred L. Hay of Defiance, in which he announced the new doctrine that employers may be enjoined from reducing wages in view of a union. The decision by a jury of Coronado case, condemned by union labor leaders through the country as a blow at unions, was cited by the court to support its contention.

FACES PRISON TERM

BAKERSFIELD, July 7.—John H. Vitelle today faced a prison term of from one to fifteen years following his conviction Court Judge Mahon after his conviction of having attacked Dr. Dwight R. Mason in a Ku Klux Klan raid near Taft. Vitelle broke down twice while being examined.

TRADE WITH EGYPT NEEDS MARINE INSURANCE

American Shipping to Land of Mummies and Sphynx Ranks Second

ALEXANDRIT, Egypt. — The establishment of marine insurance companies in Egypt is the next great need of American interests here, according to Lester Maynard, United States consul to this country.

Through Maynard's efforts, American cargo steamships began an Egyptian trade last year, and now American boats arrive in Alexandria regularly, at least once a month, carrying goods insured in American insurance companies.

America sent to Egypt, in the first four months of 1921 more goods than any other country. But now the United States has fallen back to second place and is likely to remain there for a long time to come unless American interests study the economic outlook more closely, asserts the American consul.

The business that is transacted between America and Egypt and the volume of money that passes back and forth between the two per year, warrant the organization of an American bank in Alexandria, Egypt's commercial capital, says Maynard. The tolls which American and Egyptian concerns pay to London bankers are enormous, he stated.

Americans Interested

Maynard, recognizing these facts, approached, while on leave, some banking interests in the United States with a view to the establishment of an American bank at Alexandria. He succeeded in gaining their support to the extent of their promising to send an official to investigate the scheme and submit a report. But undoubtedly an American bank is badly needed, and Egyptians, as well as Near Easterners in general, welcome wholeheartedly the extension of American enterprises.

Goods can now be exported and imported on American ships and insured in American companies. But what still remains to be done is to remit money through an American bank and to be able to travel from Egypt to Europe, Syria and Turkey in American ships.

Passage Rates High

Passengers are now conveyed by Italian, British and French boats. Exorbitant passage rates are extorted. An American steamship company that could send its boats to Beyrout, Smyrna, Constantinople and Italy, especially during the summer season, could reap good returns, if reasonable passage rates were charged. The old North German Lloyd Steamship company is now arranging to run its boats in competition with the existing companies. Ships belonging to the U. S. A. Shipping Board could be very profitably utilized here.

Every Moslem, as a duty, visits Mecca and Medina once in a lifetime. It is the greatest ambition and desire of Mohammedans all over the world to be able to perform the pilgrimage to Al-Kaaba and to stand on Mount Ararat, in Hedjaz. Egypt is sending about 6,000 pilgrims this year. Syria, including Palestine, is sending large numbers. Two companies—one British and one Italian—are undertaking to convey the pilgrims to Jedda and bring them back to Egypt.

If American firms could succeed in signing a contract with the governments of the countries named to convey their pilgrims next year big profits would surely be made.

French Living Costs Thrice As High

PARIS.—Americans who come to Paris this summer with the idea that 9-cent francs—nearly half normal—will buy them a gay time for nothing will be sadly disillusioned.

Figures quoted by Marcel Cachin, in l'Humanite, communist organ, show that the cost of living in Paris, even for the Parisian who does not patronize tourist hotels, has increased three times since 1914. Wages have not kept pace with this increase, Cachin points out.

Cost of living has increased 600 times in Austria, 20 times in Germany, 22 times in Bulgaria, 462 times in Poland, twice in England, five times in Italy, four times in Belgium and ten times in Finland, according to M. Cachin.

Asbestos was known to the Romans 2,000 years ago, and was used by them for wrapping bodies that were to be cremated.

MAYOR ROBINSON MUST PROVE HE IS REAL SCOUT

City Executive to Accompany Boys to Catalina Island for Educational Outing

Through the invitation of Peter L. Ferry, chairman of the district camping committee of the Boy Scouts of America, Mayor Spencer Robinson is to accompany the local Boy Scouts to their camp at Catalina Island, July 20 to 29.

The mayor, who accepted the invitation with a great deal of pleasure, declared that he would do everything he could to help the boys have a good time, even to the extent of acting as chief cook and bottle washer, according to H. L. Benner, local executive.

During Boy Scout anniversary week last February, Mayor Robinson was made an honorary tenderfoot scout, having been given the degree by Glendale scouts of the Verdugo Hills council. He has now declared that he wishes a higher degree, and on this camping trip he will be put through the tests which will qualify him to rank as a first-class scout.

What Mayor Must Do

H. L. Benner, the local scout executive, relates with considerable glee the following requirements which the mayor will have to pass to attain the higher rank:

Track a half mile in twenty-five minutes.

Go a mile in twelve minutes at scout's pace.

Use properly the knife and hatchet.

Prove ability to build a fire in the open, using not more than two matches.

Know the sixteen principal points of the compass.

Swim fifty yards.

Earn and deposit at least $2 in a public bank.

Send and receive a message by semaphore code at the rate of sixteen letters per minute.

Take a hike to a point seven miles distant, return and write a satisfactory account of the trip and things observed.

Know advanced first aid and life-saving, and how to cook in the open without the ordinary utensils.

Some More of It

Make and read a field map correctly.

Know how to judge distance, size, number, height and weight within twenty-five per cent.

Know how to describe ten different kinds of wild trees and birds.

Furnish satisfactory evidence that he has put into practice in his daily life the principles of the scout oath and law.

Must enlist in the organization a boy trained by himself to the requirements of a tenderfoot.

"That's all the mayor has to do to become a first-class scout," finished Mr. Benner with a chuckle.

Investigate Theory Of Men's Evolution

LONDON.—This should interest Mr. William Jennings Bryan. British anthropologists are investigating the theory that modern men are not men descended from apes, but have walked this old mundane sphere in their present physical form for some 100,000 years.

The anthropologists are of the opinion that this research will lead to the conclusion that if a neolithic man were to don the "topper," "spats" and other garments of the present-day Piceadilly "swanker" that he would cause no sensation because these two men are physically the same.

H. J. Fleure and T. C. James of the University College of Wales and two of the British scientists are working on the theories expounded by Mr. Bryan in contravention to Mr. Darwin, that after all modern man is only the neolithic man grown old.

ST. LOUIS WOMAN, GRANDMA AT 33, OUTFLAPPING FLAPPER

Married at 14, Mother at 15, Sees Daughter Wedded; Holds Love of Husband

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 7.—Juvenile flappers will have to "watch their step" if they are not to be outstripped by their seniors.

For here in St. Louis is a grandmother in possession of all the attractions customarily reserved for flappers—laughing eyes, impatient young feet and the faculty of wearing smart sport hats and sweaters in the most flapperish manner.

She is Mrs. Joseph E. Dehner, 33, married at 14, a mother at 15, and a grandmother at 33.

When Mrs. Dehner was 14 she left her home to elope with the man of her dreams, then a youth of 23.

"I have a funny habit of keeping my husband in love with me, oo," Mrs. Dehner says. "He thinks I'm younger looking than I ever was.

"When I was younger I regretted my early marriage," added Mrs. Dehner. "But they're all right when the girl is serious and loves children. She also must settle down."

AMENDMENTS FOR WAREHOUSE LAW ARE ADVANCED

Senator Harris of Georgia Urges Eight Changes Be Made in Measure

By J. BART CAMPBELL
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The House Committee on Agriculture is expected soon to take up the eight amendments to the United States Warehouse Act proposed by Senator Harris, of Georgia, and already agreed to in the Senate. The main amendment broadens the warehouse act to make it possible for the storing of any agricultural product, in the discretion of the Secretary of Agriculture, instead of only cotton, wool, grain, tobacco and flaxseed, as provided in the present law passed in August, 1916.

The Harris amendments would remove the present limit of one year for licenses to warehouses, extend a system of licensing persons to inspect and sample products, increase the penalties for violation of the law and make it possible for a farmer suffering from losses through wrongdoing to receive payment as a penalty as well as the forfeiture of the bonds of warehousemen.

Senator Harris said nearly all legislation now proposed for the extension of rural credits and assistance to agriculture possessed features touching on the eligibility of federal warehouse receipts, and it was necessary the warehouse act be made as broad as possible to render the greatest possible assistance to farmers.

Will Reduce Insurance

"When a warehouse becomes licensed under the federal act the patrons of the warehouse will enjoy a 25 per cent reduction in insurance rates, and the warehousemen themselves will be granted a reduction of 25 per cent in such rates on both the warehouses and their equipment," said Senator Harris. "The benefits coming to the warehouses under licenses are many, and the rapid progress in th past two years shows the licensing provisions are being seriously sought by warehousemen.

"Such agricultural products as cotton seed, peanuts, beans and other things may be stored if the Harris bill becomes a law. In Georgia and the south as a whole diversification of crops to get away from cotton entirely has brought stimulated interest in crops other than cotton.

"The department feels that it is unnecessary work for it and the warehousemen to have applications made each year for a license, and my amendment would have the license continue until terminated at any time for failure to observe the law. The licensing of persons to inspect and sample products and to certify their condition makes it possible for proper classification of products to get the greatest values. An instance is cotton, where the value depends on the grades, and under the proper showing larger advances may be made on the warehouse receipt showing the exact grade of cotton. This can be done under proper regulation for inspectors and samplers.

Receipts Are Valuable

"The value of receipts under the warehouse act is shown by the fact that the war finance corporation, in making its loans covering various products, has not refused in a single case to accept federal warehouse receipts as security for loans which it has made to producers.

"The penalty features for violations of the warehouse law are extended so as to have a salutary as well as deterring influence upon warehousemen who may be tempted to go wrong. The department administering the law did not think it advisable to increase the amount of bond to be required, but the penalty was increased from a fine of $500 to $10,000 and from six months in prison to one year. A feature was added which permits the owner of the product lost to be reimbursed out of the fine, which may be double the value of the product if the value exceeds $10,000."

Senator Harris said there were 269 cotton warehouses, with a combined capacity of about 1,250,000 bales licensed up to April 1, 1922. This compares with 238 cotton warehouses with a combined capacity of 429,975 bales on April 1, 1921. The small increase in the number of warehouses but the large increase in capacity for the year is explained by the showing that a few large warehouses entered.

From the time the first law was passed until April 1, 1920, there were only twenty-three cotton warehouses, with a combined capacity of 40,050 bales. Rapid progress in growth of the number of wool, grain and tobacco warehouses is shown by the reports of the department.

Pitcher So Speedy His Arm Bone Snaps

URBANA, Ohio.—While throwing the last ball of a game between two schools, in which he pitched no-hit ball, Fred Cressman put so much energy into the throw that his arm snapped.

Doctors discovered a week afterward that a small bone in his right forearm had broken. Local fans assert that such cases are extremely rare.

FRUIT WORK WAGE SCALE ADOPTED IN VALLEY

Labor Situation Serious As Record Crops Ripen; Other News Notes

For the information of the many Glendale people who spend their vacations on the fruit ranches of the San Fernando valley the following schedule of wages, decided upon recently at an Nuys by a meeting of the California Prune and Apricot Growers' association, is printed:

The scale calls for 10 to 15 cents for apricots for a fifty pound box; 6 to 9 cents for peaches for a fifty pound box, and 15 to 17 cents for pittings for a fifty pound box. The day labor scale is 35 to 40 cents an hour, no board. This is for field work in the orchards.

The ranchers are to provide tents, stoves, cots and other necessary camp equipment and the worker is to furnish his own bedding and cooking utensils.

Labor Situation Serious

The labor situation in San Fernando valley is said to be serious. A careful survey of the valley indicates that there will be more than 9000 tons of fruit to gather this month and about 9000 acres of potatoes to harvest and it is estimated that a force of from 1200 to 1800 people will have to be imported to care for these products, but it is thought the greatest trouble will be, not to secure this extra help, but to provide accommodations for it. That is the reason an effort is being made to arouse the ranchers to a realization of the situation before the day comes when the help must come onto the job.

Republicans to Meet

President C. S. McCormick of the San Fernando Republican Club is calling a meeting of all republicans of that vicinity to meet at the city hall in San Fernando on Friday evening, July 7, at 7:30 o'clock, with the request that every republican man and woman attend and get in touch with the new ideas in state and national affairs.

Colorado Indians Soon Civilized, Says Ute's Superintendent

DURANGO, Colo.—The population of the Ute Indians of the southern agency in southwestern Colorado shows a slight gain for the past ten-year period, according to a statement to the International News Service here.

Superintendent McKean and Dr. Lefforge, the agency physicians, have just completed a survey that shows greatly improved health conditions on the reservation.

Tuberculosis, the dread disease of the redmen, is being slowly stamped out, as is trachoma, the survey indicates.

At no time during the past six years have there been more than three deaths in one year due to tuberculosis.

Trachoma, which at one time was prevalent among the Indians, is now under control, and the eye affliction is rapidly being overcome.

Superintendent McKean declared that the Utes are becoming civilized at a rapid pace, adding that more than 50 per cent of the Indians on the southern Ute reservation are now self-supporting.

Booze Prices Rise As Visitors Flood France

PARIS.—Influx of visiting foreigners from a parched land has unduly raised the price of French wines and liqueurs.

This is implied in a protest made by a congress of hotel keepers meeting at Bourges against the wholesale prices set by wine merchants.

"They are going to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs," the author of the protest declared.

The hotel keepers also protested vigorously against the "taxe de sejour" at summer and winter resorts and touring centers. According to a letter received from the hotel keepers of Chamonix, the tax is characterized as "imbecile" and "paralyzing the efforts of hotel keepers to attract business."

Give Your Boy a Start

At the birth of a baby boy in a certain Ohio town, its mother said to the proud father: "Let us give this child a start in life. Can we set aside a dollar a week? Let us try."

This was done. At the age of twenty-one the child was able to purchase an interest in a growing business. This man later became the president of the Western Union Telegraph Company.

One dollar per week is a small sacrifice, but it will amount in twenty years, at five per cent interest, compounded semi-annually, to $1,801.72. We invite you to open a savings account with us. We pay four per cent interest.

GERMANY'S MONEY VALUES ARE NOW DUE TO RISE

Period of Inflation Is Now Nearing End, Is Belief Being Expressed

By W. H. ATKINS
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 7. — An American laborer, migrating to Germany, would become a millionaire overnight by converting his savings into German marks. The German mark is nearer the vanishing point than any other currency, except the almost wholly worthless Russian ruble. The American workman's dollar will buy about 300 German marks.

The greed of German business barons, aided and abetted by Germany's shrewd figures in officialdom, is held chiefly responsible for the wild inflation that has forced the mark to the lowest point in value in history. Financial experts here declare that the German mark has just about reached bottom and is due to rise in value because of the operation of normal economic laws.

Virtually upon the rocks of financial disaster, Germany now must turn in the other direction. It is not because Germany wishes to do that, but the better judgment of leaders of other world powers are compelling that course.

Cause of Low Money

The ability of the German merchant to go out into the foreign market and crowd other traders off the map is due to low production costs in Germany. Every principal industry enjoys either direct or indirect subsidies granted by the government, enabling production at prices it is impossible to compete against.

Treasury experts have made a comprehensive study of the erratic course taken by the German mark since the war. They find a great divergence between the internal and external values of the mark. Manufacturing costs in Germany depend upon the internal value in Germany. The advantage which the German manufacturer and exporter enjoys over American and other competitors comes from the fact that low internal value of the mark is accentuated by benefits under subsidies, which include low transportation rates on the state railways, the grain subsidy, maximum rent laws and export price control.

German Prices Low

Experts find that, as in all countries with a greatly depreciated currency, the German price level has not risen commensurately with the decline in the gold value of the national currency. This has been true in a great degree in Germany because of artificial regulation of bread prices, rents and public utility rates.

The conclusion is strong in Washington that Germany, in a financial sense, has become literally oversaturated with cheap money. The turn in the other direction toward fiscal stability is imminent. This can only be achieved by slowing down the fast money printing presses and by recognition of the fact that wild inflation can only end in economic disaster — and Germany's better thinking business men are said to be eager for a change that will restore Germany's financial prestige.

NEW APPARATUS AND DEVICES

RADIO ENGINEER, CUTTING AND WASHINGTON RADIO CORP

AN EFFICIENT AND WELL MADE REGENERATIVE RECEIVER

Although enabling a wave length range of from 150 to 3,000 meters, the regenerative receiver illustrated is very compact and comprises a two stage audio frequency amplifier, in addition to the receiver and vacuum tube detector. The circuit used is the tuned grid and tuned plate, which allows of very easy control of regeneration. Complete wave length control is had only with three knobs, which simplifies the adjustments necessary in operation. The large knob on the extreme left controls the capacity of an antenna series condenser. The twobladed switch next to it controls the antenna inductance and provides for eliminating the effect of the unused turns of the coil. The large knob just to the right of the switch controls the late circuit or tickler coil. This tickler coil is the rotor of a variometer, whose stator winding is connected into the grid circuit and is in series with the bank wound inductance coil. Jacks are provided, as shown, for connecting the telephone receivers to either the detector, first stage or second stage of amplification. A jack immediately above the detector allows of the use of a separate external detector if desired for any reason.

This receiver has many little refinements, such as tapered knobs and binding posts, vernier adjustments of condenser capacity, tickler coupling and tube rheostats. There are no bearing contacts anywhere in the receiver, woven braid being used instead for making such connections. The wiring is very rigid except where it is necessary to provide flexible connections. The vernier arrangements are probably the most novel to be seen anywhere. They are rubber tired, tangent wheels, which grip the different controls and provide for extremely delicate adjustment. The rheostat wheels are calibrated in ohms, so that the resistance may be seen at a glance. The variometer construction is also very novel and efficient. The coil frames are of molded bakelite, made in such a way as to obviate the necessity of having the bakelite come between the rotor and stator turns. Up in the right hand corner are two binding posts for a loud speaker, so that it may be left connected. When it is desired to use the loud speaker and cut off the head telephones it is only necessary to slip the plug a little way out of the jack. When the plug is pushed all the way in the loud speaker is disconnected. Aluminum screens are mounted in back of the panel where necessary to eliminate the detuning effects of "body capacity." All connections for "A" and "B" batteries are made through the rear of the cabinet, so that it is not necessary to have a number of wires visible from the front.

The filament rheostats may be left in adjustment, and the tube filaments are extinguished when the plug is withdrawn from its jack. When detector only is used both amplifier tube filaments are thus cold and take no current from the storage battery. The panel is of best grade bakelite, is hand rubbed and makes a fine appearance. All controls and binding posts are plainly marked to avoid guesswork in making connections.

CONNECTION OF PLATE CIRCUIT TO FILAMENT TERMINAL

There are two filament terminals, one positive and one negative. The positive terminal is, of course, the one connected to the positive terminal of the "A" battery, and the negative is the one connected to the negative battery terminal. In order to have a current flow in the plate circuit and between the filament and plate within the tube it is necessary to connect that circuit to one of the filament terminals. If the connection is made to the negative filament terminal and the voltage applied to the filament is five volts the plate battery voltage will be opposed by one-half the voltage applied to the filament. This is because the plate circuit current flows principally through the negative side of the filament and is opposed by the filament current flowing in the opposite direction in that portion of the filament. If the plate voltage applied by the plate battery is 45 volts then the resultant voltage on the plate will be 45 less 2½, or 42½ volts. If the connection is made to the positive filament lead, however, the filament current in that portion of the circuit assists the plate current, since both are flowing in the same direction. We then have the plate battery voltage, added to by the voltage in that half of the filament, and the resultant is 45 plus 2½, or 47½ volts. The plate voltage is increased by 2½ volts in this case, and where the "A" battery is desired to assist the plate battery this connection should be made. Frequently, however, it does not make any practical difference, since the tube might function equally well with the slightly lower voltage, and, in fact, a higher plate voltage might unnecessarily increase the plate current normally flowing.

When a "soft" detector tube is used it is quite often advisable to provide some means of varying the plate voltage in very small steps. This can be done by connecting the resistance unit of a 300 ohm potentiometer directly across the filament battery and connecting the sliding contact to the negative terminal of the plate (or "B") battery, through the head telephones. With a six volt storage battery for the filament and a 22½ volt battery for the plate the voltage applied to the plate may be varied in small steps a little above and below 22½ volts. The resistance of the potentiometer is 300 ohms and the voltage of the filament battery is six volts. The current taken by the potentiometer from the storage battery is, then, by Ohm's Law only .02 ampere (2-100 amperes), and very small compared with the current taken by the filament. This potentiometer is not needed, of course, when a "hard" tube is used, since the plate potential required for detection is not nearly so critical.

FALL OUT CHERRY TREE GOOD LUCK TO THIS BOY

Orphan Lad Gets Score of Godfathers Following a Trip to Hospital

BALTIMORE, July 7.—An orphan lad's fall may some day result in his rise to a position of prominence and trust.

A cherry tree gave George Washington a reputation.

The same kind of a tree is responsible for an orphan boy's acquiring at least a score of volunteer godfathers who promise him vacations in the country, an education and many other advantages.

Some boys fall out of cherry trees and get a trip to the hospital or a spanking. Little Lefty Frank, eleven years old, fell out of a cherry tree and got a trip to the hospital—and a generous supply of godfathers.

"Lefty" doesn't mind two broken arms—just look at all the other things he'll get because of the fall. Not everybody can fall from a cherry tree straight into the arms of a fortune, "Lefty" will tell the world.

Ward of Society

"Lefty" is a ward of one of the children's aid societies and had just been placed in a home at Catonsville, a beautiful suburb of Baltimore, for the summer. Suffering an acute attack of "golfitis" even at his tender years, "Lefty" climbed a cherry tree to get a better view of a game which was in progress on the Rolling Roads golf course. The game proved too exciting, and "Lefty" fell out.

"But "Lefty's" godfathers in disguise were playing on the golf course. One of them saw the little fellow walking down the road. His arms were so broken and so twisted from the fall that the men hardly recognized them as arms at all.

But "Lefty" was a game youngster and didn't shed a tear as some of the golf players put him in their machine and took him to St. Agnes' Hospital. There they were again impressed by his bravery. By the time "Lefty" returned to Catonsville, with his arms in splints—but still smiling—he and the golfers had become fast friends.

Secret Is Revealed

At a meeting of the Baltimore Auto Trade Association the next day some of the golf players of the previous day mentioned "Lefty" and the members began to talk about his bravery. Now the secret is out. It was the members of the trade association who were on the links. From now on they will consider "Lefty" their special charge.

In less time than it took the little fellow to fall out of the tree his godfathers had taken up a collection of $100 at the meeting to give "Lefty" a summer in the real country, with all the milk he can drink. After that—well, plans are indefinite. But they say "Lefty" isn't going to lack for an education or anything else if his godfathers know anything about it.

"Lefty," looking fondly down at his bandaged arms and then at his godfathers, gave a little gasp, as he heard the good news.

"Gee whiz!" he exclaimed. "Some fall!"

RECORD OF STATES IN CROP VALUES MADE PUBLIC

Texas and Iowa Leaders for Farm Production, Says Agricultural Report

By U. S. Press Association

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 7.—Farm crops valued at $1,421,100,000 were produced in the north central states west of the Mississippi river in 1921, according to the United States department of agriculture. This is 20 per cent of the total value of all crops produced in the United States in that year, and compares with a value of $2,418,600,000, or 22 per cent of the total, in 1920, and with $3,584,100,000, or 23 per cent, in 1919. The states covered are Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas.

These states also produced 30 per cent, or $1,610,000,000, of the value of all animal products of the farm in the United States in 1921, compared with a value of $2,217,900,000 in 1920 and $3,521,400,000 in 1919.

Second in value of farm crops were the north central states east of the Mississippi river. These states comprise Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Third in value of farm crops were the south Atlantic states. These states comprise Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and the District of Columbia.

Texas and Iowa Lead

Texas was the leading state in value of farm crops in 1921, showing $483,800,000, compared with $760,800,000 in 1920 and with $1,206,100,000 in 1919. California was second in value of crops, showing $383,000,000 in 1921, as compared with $538,900,000 in 1920. In 1919 California held tenth place. Iowa in that year being second, with $811,200,000. Iowa shows $282,600,000 for 1921, as compared with $507,200,000 in 1920.

Iowa was the leader as regards animal products, the value for 1920 being $475,700,000, compared with $655,300,000 in 1921, Illinois was second in 1921, with $360,500,000, compared with $496,600,000 in 1920, and with $564,500,000 in 1919. Missouri was third in 1921, with $325,200,000, as compared with $448,000,000 in 1920 and $509,300,000 in 1919.

Business Improves

"Recognition of the fact that general business in the United States is steadily improving and has arrived at near-normal proportions is well nigh universal," says a statement issued by the First National Bank of Boston. The bank concludes that "the widespread feeling of optimism throughout the country is not primarily a reflection of profitable results achieved, but is due to a realization that the huge losses of past months have been stopped, reasonable consumption and production have materialized, commodity prices are in sufficiently good adjustment to permit trading on a large scale, and that good business is in near prospect. It has become clear that surplus stocks of raw materials, especially foodstuffs, wool, cotton, copper, zinc, lead and other commodities, have been liquidated and no longer hang over the market. At last the seller has an even chance. Wool is a conspicuous example."

English to Be Taught In Schools of Bavaria

LONDON — Bavaria's parliament has decided to make the teaching of the English language compulsory throughout the middle schools of the country and to make French optional.

French had previously been compulsory, but the committee which made the report stated that French culture had passed the highest peak and that English culture was far more valuable.

Use of Rod Called Cure for Flapperitis

DETROIT. — Flapperitis and other ills afflicting the rising generation can be effectively remedied only by "vigorous application of the rod," according to Judge Alfred T. Talley, of the Court of Special Sessions, New York City, who at one time received national attention by virtue of his preachment, "Spare the rod and spoil the child." Judge Talley spoke to an audience of several thousand men and youths of Detroit Diocesan Union of the Holy Name Society at Ford Field.

L. A. STRIKERS CONFER

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—Local railroad strikers, who have been meeting in the Labor Temple behind closed doors, resumed their sessions after declaring that they had unanimously decided to maintain their strike. That members of the brotherhood of railway and steamship clerks, freight handlers, express and station employes may walk out on coast lines of the Santa Fe was predicted by H. D. Matthews, general chairman of organization.

MOTORISTS PAY 100,000

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—Fines imposed upon motorists in Los Angeles police courts during the month of June, totaled approximately $100,000, according to the monthly report of David Martin, clerk of the police courts, which was on file today. The total fines for all offenses reached $128,000, breaking all previous local police court records.

TRAINING FOR PERFECT MOTHERS

At the graduation exercises of the "Little Mothers" Club of the Hibbard Public School, in Chicago, ninety little mothers in the seventh and eighth grades demonstrated efficiently how one should care for the home, bathe, feed and dress the baby, promote proper sanitation, and apply first aid principles. Diplomas were awarded.

Writers of Arguments Chosen by Secretary

SACRAMENTO, July 7.—Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan announced today the appointment of the writers of arguments for and against referendum and bond measures on the November ballot. They are:

Veterans' Welfare Bond Issue: Senator J. N. Inman, Sacramento, for; George Edward, Berkeley, against.

Land Settlement Bond: Senator Arthur H. Breed, Oakland, for; no one requested argument against.

State Housing Act: Senator L. G. Burnett, San Francisco, for; Sylvester L. Weaver, Los Angeles, against.

Wright prohibition enforcement measure: Assemblyman T. M. Wright, San Jose, for; C. E. McLaughlin, against.

$275 Found on Body of Unknown Man

SOUTH ACTON, N. H.—While making a second examination of a body of an unidentified man found dead on the Boston and Maine tracks at the West street crossing recently, Medical Examiner H. H. Braley of Concord noticed a swelling just above the ankle on the left leg. After considerable investigation the "swelling" proved to be flesh-colored gutta-percha, and concealed under the rubber was $275 in new bills. The cache was put together so cunningly that one would think it just a puffing of the skin, and the hiding place was waterproof, so that even while bathing the owner would have his money with him at all times unobserved by others.

AMERICAN ENERGY AND YOUTHS ARE GIVEN PRAISE

Mrs. Clare Sheridan in Interview Tells About Impressions Gained

By THOMAS C. WATSON
For International News Service.

LONDON, July 7. — "Flappers may get drunk in America, but I never saw any. True, they dance a tremendous lot, but why shouldn't they? Their energy and vitality is to be admired. Besides, they dance so exquisitely, so gracefully! The way they execute the fox trot, and the toddle is more graceful than the minuet or the Roger de Coverley."

This was Mrs. Clare Sheridan's very emphatic retort to a query put by your correspondent.

"That's what makes me so wild with the English people. They seem to think the American youth is composed entirely of immoral, drunken flappers and lounge lizards and roadhouse roues. Let me tell you, they are not.

"The young American is as courteous and gallant a gentleman as any nation has produced at whatever era. In his college days he may be a little wild, perhaps drink a little too much, but he soon grows out of that.

"But to read the English newspapers one would think that all that happened in America were bank holdups, murders and unpleasant divorces. They do happen in America, but many are committed by foreigners. A rich country like America always does attract the rogues of every country.

Praises American Energy

"Other things happen in America—in fact, everything happens in America. It is a country of boundless opportunities. Anyone who has lived in America will hate to live anywhere else.

"I have been in America for the last eighteen months, and now that I am back in my own country it makes me impatient—both the people and their country. People whom I have hitherto thought intelligent ask me how I could get any inspiration for my work in a country like America, which, they say, is so inartistic. I could scream at them.

"Among the sculptors in America there are Barnard, Paul Bartlett, Manship and MacMonnies. They are the equal of anyone in France or England. I don't want to be drawn into any comment on MacMonnies' statue of "Civic Virtue,' but his other work stands comparison with the sculptors of all ages.

"The English appreciation of American art does not go beyond Whistler, Pennell and Sargent. As for the hundreds of equally brilliant young artists now flourishing in America, they know nothing of them and apparently care less.

"I am staggered at the dining tables of Mayfair every night by the amazing ignorance of my fellow diners on American art and their amazing impertinence in daring to criticize it. In literature it is the same. In matters artistic and literary, with the exception of their country, France, Russia and Germany, the English people are ludicrously insular.

"Fears are expressed in America that there is a possibility of America developing its landed aristocracy, like we have in England. There are now third, fourth and fifth generations of rich people. There is just a danger that the wealth of their forebears might induce the young men to lead lives of useless leisure—in fact, to be young men about town, with no object in life except to spend the money their grandfathers made for them.

"I could not see any such tendency. As far as I could ascertain the women of the country are not anxious to have the shared responsibility of large country estates, with its tenants and its servant worries.

Development Unhampered

"Everything in America tends toward the unhampered development of womankind in whatever sphere they wish to distinguish themselves. In my early married life many of my ambitions were stunted by domestic worries, and it was pointed out to me by everyone that my duty was to my household and my children. All my ambitions were to be subservient to my domestic responsibilities. That state of affairs still exists in England.

"Women here are not taken seriously. The tragic pity of it! However seriously they may take themselves, Lady Astor, Mrs. Asquith and Lady Rhondda are not regarded in any measure as potent political entities.

"In America a woman is mistress of her own fate and captain of her soul, to misquote Henley slightly.

"America still has a kindly feeling toward England, the mother country. But it is the feeling of a vigorous, trustful son for a rather old-fashioned, tradition-ridden mother."

Cincinnati Is Facing Shortage of Laborers

CINCINNATI, Ohio—For the first time in months Cincinnati really is facing a shortage of skilled labor. The tremendous building programme which has been launched here is responsible for this unusual condition, builders declare, pointing out that the big projects to be consummated here this summer involve an aggregate investment of about $30,000,000.

The most urgent need is for bricklayers and plasterers, the contractors say. Unemployment among men skilled in building trades practically has disappeared here as a result of the building boom, while men of other trades are filling in where experts cannot be obtained.

Livestock Features Brazil's Exposition

WASHINGTON.—One of the chief features of the International Exposition to be held at Rio de Janeiro next fall, in celebration of the hundredth anniversary of Brazilian independence, will be approved breeds of livestock from many foreign countries, according to advices to the Department of Agriculture.

The livestock exhibition will take place from September 20 to 30. The exposition itself will commence on September 7 and extend into 1923.

Already new buildings are under construction to meet the needs of the Brazilian and foreign livestock exhibits, the advices state.

Scotch Presbyterians Fear for Religion

GLASGOW.—Scotch Presbyterians have been known the world over for years, but now their claim upon the religious life of Scotland is threatened.

Catholicism is growing apace in Scotland. So rapid has the growth of the Roman Catholic Church been that the two great assemblies of the Presbyterian Church have appointed commissions to investigate the causes.

Paper was first made of straw at Meadville, Pa., in 1828.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly lark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Advertisement.

LENROOT OPPOSES TARIFF BILL IN PRESENT FORM

One of Spokesmen for the Administration Declares Rates Are Too High

By WEBSTER K. NOLAN
By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 7. — Heralding the first crumbling of administration support of the McCumber tariff bill, Senator Lenroot, Republican, of Wisconsin, has declared himself opposed to the measure unless a radical reduction were made in its rates.

Heretofore counted upon as an administration spokesman on the floor, Lenroot urgedgtsaSff wjry floor, Lenroot threatened to become one of the leaders of the rapidly growing insurgent movement, in whose ranks are to be found Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska; Senator Capper, Republican of Kansas, and Senator La Follette, Republican of Wisconsin.

surgency was made by western

An effort to stem the tide of insenators in view of the fact that the break in the solid ranks of the Republicans has come over the question of California shelled almond tariff rates. Senators Shortridge, Republican, of California; Johnson, Republican, of California, and McNary, Republican of Oregon, defended the administration's position.

Gives His Warning

"I will not vote for the passage of the tariff bill," Lenroot declared, "with such unreasonable rates, such exorbitant duties prevailing in it, such as the duty on shelled almonds as prescribed by the committee. Unless some of these duties are brought down to somewhere near a reasonable rate I give notice I shall not vote for the passage of this bill.

Lively forensic battle over the shelled almond tariff rate switched suddenly from a Republican and Democratic skirmish to an almost wholly Republican verbal fracas. Senator Lenroot took the floor against Senators Johnson and Shortridge of California and McNary, Republican of Oregon. Lenroot pointing an accusing finger at the western trio, declared:

"The Republican party cannot justify itself in decreeing so exorbitant a tariff rate on shelled almonds."

Johnson then cited pages of figures to prove his contention that the almond industry of California called for high protective rates. Shortridge, aiming to air Lenroot's speech, spoke for nearly an hour regarding brotherly love, the past history of New England, the glories of Ohio and the climate of California.

WOMAN TAKES POISON

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—While the body of a woman who registered at a fashionable downtown hotel as "Mrs. H. L. Boyden, Lancaster, Ohio," was being held at a local undertaking establishment, police endeavored to communicate with relatives of the woman, who drank poison while despondent. She was about 50 years old. When she registered at the local hotel she had no baggage other than a hand bag. Just before ending her life she wrote a note, expressing disillusionment.

SHORTAGE IN COAL SURE TO COME, EXPERT SAYS

Fuel Costs Too Much as Result of Much Strife, Director Declares

By U. S. Press Association

WASHINGTON, July 7—George Otis Smith, director of the United States Geological Survey, whose data on coal industry have been the guide for governmental officials handling the situation, declares that there is "going to be a tremendous shortage of coal," and that he believes "many householders will burn coke this winter."

Director Smith says further: "This situation is acute, and one can see it along the Atlantic seaboard from to Washington. The tracks are practically empty of coal cars. The coal reserves are down probably to 30,000,000 tons, or enough to last from seven to ten weeks more.

"What coal producers and coal consumers alike need is reform of the coal business rather than compromise between parties to the controversy," says Director Smith. "In this reform it is absolutely essential that the mine worker should co-operate with the mine operator. Too long have the mine owners treated the coal business as private privilege, and too long have the labor leaders, with no less monopolistic attitude, obstructed every move for underground efficiency and economy.

"The people's coal costs too much because of the mistakin idea that mine owner and mine worker can continue to fight over contracts and rules. Cheaper coal and larger earnings will come when engineering is emphasized more and bargaining less."

Checking Immigration

Whatever may be thought of the immigration restriction law as a matter of public policy or private hardship, it must be acknowledged that it has been effective. The number of immigrants who would have come to the United States during the year ending July 1 amounts to about 1,000,000. The new law can be credited with the exclusion of 700,000 aliens during the last year as the number actually admitted has been about 300,000.

Under this law, the number of immigrants admitted during one year from any country is limited to 3 per cent of the total number previously admitted from that country, as ascertained by the census. The quotas of 22 countries have been exhausted, according to the records of the Department of Labor. As the end of the year approached the number of aliens held up at Ellis Island increased in number, on account of the exhaustion of the quota of one country after another. Every foreigner who is barred by minor officials at a port of entry has the right to appeal to the secretary of labor, who is required by law to make a decision in each case. No other officials, not even the commissioner general of immigration, can make a final decision. The cases, numbering thousands every month, caused a jam at Ellis Island, where thousands of persons were packed in close quarters while the secretary of labor and his assistant spent days and nights passing upon the appeals for admission.

This month the gates will be open again to immigrants from all countries, and under the 3 per cent law a fresh quota will be available. For six months or more immigrants from many countries have been barred. The tremendous rush that will follow the renewal of admissions and the discomfort and crowding at immigrant stations may be imagined. An unprecedented rush for entry into the United States is expected, and it will continue until the filling of quotas will shut the bars down to one country after another.

Gas in 1920

Although the gas-making industry had great difficulty in obtaining adequate supplies of good fuel in 1920, the quantity of gas sold was greater than ever before, amounting to nearly 500 billion cubic feet, having a value of more than $300,000,000, according to the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior. The sale of by-products by gas-making companies was also greater in 1920 than in any previous year. Over 100,000,000 gallons of tar, 55,000,000 pounds of ammonium sulphate or its equivalent, and nearly 125,000,000 gallons of light oil and other derivatives were the principal items among these by-products.

The average price of gas in 1920 was much higher than it had been for several years, averaging 16 cents a thousand cubic feet greater for coal gas and water gas and 5 cents a thousand cubic feet greater for oil gas and coke-oven gas than in 1918.

Against Ford Offer

Eight Republican members of the committee on military affairs of the House of Representatives have submitted a report to Congress in which they characterize the Ford Muscle Shoals sentiment throughout the country as based on "one of the most insidious propagandas that the nation has witnessed for many a day." The Kearns report, referred to above, points out that there is a "persistent report" that Mr. Ford "will compel the fertilizer manufacturers of the country to sell their product at one-half of what they are now selling it." The statement of Secretary of War Weeks is printed to show Mr. Ford's position upon this matter. Said Mr. Weeks: "I said in effect: 'You might stop the manufacture of fertilizer in five years, or in any time, to the great disappointment of the people down there.' He (Mr. Ford) said: "Of course, I am going to stop it if I can not manufacture it profitably'."

Senator Norris, a leader in the farm bloc movement, is chairman of the senate committee having the Muscle Shoals matter in charge, and he is unalterably opposed to the Ford offer.

President Harding has indicated that he does not believe the Ford offer should be accepted. Secretary of War Weeks is flatly opposed to the Ford offer, and so is the Federal Power Commission, which has general charge of all power projects.

Even with the Administration almost solidly arrayed against the Ford offer, there is pouring in upon Washington a great popular demand in favor of the proposition. The report by Congressman Kearns and his colleagues, explains that "there are a great many men throughout the United States who are strong advocates of the Ford offer without having any true understanding of what his proposition contains." The report says that these people "have been misled as to the facts; they have read this propaganda, much of which is false in its every detail." The committee then takes up the different features of the question of "what shall be done with Muscle Shoals," and after going into the details in a lengthy statement concludes that the government should retain control for the present at least, and work out leases along the lines laid down in the federal water power act.

Quite attractive is this head shawl of mantilla lace and the very loud novelty fan of cock feathers. It suggests of Spanish style on Parisian boulevards.

'DOUG' FAIRBANKS' '3 MUSKETEERS' AT T. D. & L.

United Artists Star Outdoes Himself in Latest Screen Effort

Predictions are being made that the screening of Alexander Dumas' immortal story, "The Three Musketeers," by Douglas Fairbanks will stand forth in motion picture history as an epochal event and that it will popularize for all time the costume photoplay.

Productions of this sort, even when based on the fictional writings of such masters as Dumas, have always been considered to be in "the danger zone," because it has never been established beyond question that the American public would receive the costume play with the same enthusiasm that has been accorded features more modern in locale and setting.

It has always been Fairbanks' contention, however, that any story sufficiently powerful and gripping in drama is bound to succeed.

In the face of the business readjustment that the country has been facing, Fairbanks has spent more money on his production than on any picture he ever before undertook, all because he has confidence in the vehicle and in the amusement seeking public. "The Three Musketeers" is said to be the greatest picture of its kind ever made. It is ten reels in length and cost a million dollars. United Artists Corporation is releasing the film.

Arrangements have been made for the showing of this feature in Glendale at the T. D. & L. theatre where it will be the main attraction for two days, today and tomorrow, Saturday.

ANKLES TABOO AS RESULT OF LATE ASCOT STYLES

Queen Mary, Who Favors Long Skirts, Wins As Setter of Pace

By EDNA HUBER CHURCH
For International News Service.

ASCOT, July 6.—Ankles are now taboo, but one may feast their eyes upon shapely and unshapely arms to their hearts' content.

Ascot styles this season, if today's showing is any criterion, demand that the ankles, of which we have seen so much, must be hidden beneath long skirts. Arms have come out of captivity, however, and the majority of the gowns seen upon this famous and aristocratic race course are either totally sleeveless or have sleeves which are flowing and slashed widely from elbow to shoulder.

Queen Mary, the long-time champion of the long skirt, has met with success. Perhaps it is due to the edicts of French modistes more than to the queen, but at any rate the gowns are long-skirted. But how the arms have blossomed out! It is a matter of choice now whether the ankle or the arm is more pleasing to the eye.

Set Off by Capes

Many of the long-skirted gowns are set off with flowing cape effects, and the hats are all wide and floppy brimmed, with the exception of that worn by the queen, who always affects the toque.

Organdie is the favorite material for Ascot gowns—and such organdies, all in delicate tints of lemon, blush pink, sky blue. Crepe marocain, georgette and dyed laces also are well favored.

Beige colored Swiss embroidery is another material which is being effectively used. These dresses have pretty flower girdles in colors which match hat and sunshade. Yes, indeed, the sunshade is in favor, safely ensconced on the pedestal of English racing fashions by the queen and Princess Mary, who both appeared at the derby with beautiful blue sunshades.

Lines of the throat and shoulder, in Ascot gowns, are generously displayed, boat-shaped collars giving this effect. When there are sleeves they are wide and flowing, slashed liberally, and often there are side panels that droop slightly below the hem of the skirt on each side.

Handbags have again become a necessity to the well dressed women, dainty little bags of cloth or silver being most popular among those who crowd the grandstands.

Fresh flowers are being used profusely by both men and women. The king and the Duke of York have revived the boutonniere.

Altogether, England's womanhood never was better dressed than at this season's Ascot.

RESCUED FROM DESERT

PHOENIX, Ariz., July 7.—Six members of a Mexican family and a traveling companion, en route by automobile from El Paso, Texas, to Los Angeles, were rescued from the desert ninety miles west of this city by a party of autoists. One member of the family, a 17-year-old boy, almost delirious from exhaustion after walking twenty-two miles in a futile search for water, met the auto party and directed them to those in distress. It was learned that the Mexicans' automobile had broken down the day before with but three gallons of water available. The travelers were brought here for treatment.

F. W. RICHARDSON HAS SUPPORT OF MANY FRIENDS

Candidate for Republican Nomination for Governor Business Success

Friend W. Richardson is making a strong campaign for the republican nomination for governor of the State of California. He has many friends in Southern California, and they are working hard in his behalf.

Mr. Richardson is of Quaker ancestry. He was reared and educated in San Bernardino, and it was in Southern California that he spent the first years of his activity in the newspaper profession. His first venture was in the law. He studied law in Southern California and became clerk of the court in the county of San Bernardino.

From his boyhood he had an innate desire for newspaper work. His opportunity came in the form of a job on the Times-Index, a daily of San Bernardino. The job carried a salary of $18 per week. He drew down upon himself all the criticism of the town wiseacres by leaving a salary of $1500 and a county position to work on a newspaper at 40 per cent less money. But in two years Friend William was owner of the Times-Index and soon afterward had it on the road to becoming a real influence in San Bernardino and Southern California, even though the stock in trade was at the time mostly promises to pay.

Good Management

In 1901 he purchased the Berkeley Gazette. Here also he found scope for his straightforward and direct methods of running a newspaper. The Gazette was bankrupt, financially, in prestige, and in influence. In a very short time this paper also was on the way to affluence and prosperity, and today, although it has passed into the hands of others, it still is following successfully the principles laid down by its former owner.

In politics Friend W. Richardson is recognized as a power. He is a close student of state politics and is regarded as an authority. In 1911 he was appointed state printer by Governor Hiram Johnson to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of the former state printer. In the office of state printer he soon won the confidence of the public and the government heads by his straightforward and fearless methods. He put the office on an efficiency basis and made a big reduction in the cost of manufacturing school books and in the cost of state printing. His signal accomplishment was a big factor in the state's success in securing free school books.

State Treasurer

His next essay was to run for the office of state treasurer, which he won easily, securing the nomination of all the three leading parties. In the election of 1918 he received the largest plurality of anp candidate on the ballot. In that office he has increased the earning power of state deposits more than $200,000 a year, and has run his office efficiently and economically. He practices as well as preaches official economy, for, during his term of office, he has always paid his traveling expenses out of his own pocket. This record is unique and alone shows the character of the man.

LEAVES WITH HER DEAD

Girl Rides 30 Miles to Spelling Contest

THERMOPOLIS, Wyo.—"Stick-to-it-iveness" that rivals the folk story of Holland's boy hero whose persistence in holding his finger in a hole in the dike until help came, thereby saving his country, has a modern counterpart in Erma Lewis, Upper Cottonwood Creek ranch girl, who rode 30 miles on horseback to uphold the Upper Cottonwood's reputation in a county spelling contest in this city.

Miss Lewis started at 5 o'clock in the morning and rode until 1:30 p. m. to enter the match.

CHARGE OF CONSPIRACY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Warrants were sought today for forty-six individuals, nine corporations and twenty "John Does" on charges of conspiracy to restrain trade in violation of the Cartwright law by Anton Lettish, a plumber, who alleged that the leading building material firms and contractors of the city had prevented his obtaining materials due to the "open shop" fight. Judge O'Brien took the application for warrants under advisement.

MIXED DOUBLES MATCH

WIMBLEDON, England, July 7.—Pat O'Hara Wood and Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen easily won their mixed doubles match from G. Sherwood and Miss Betty in the all-comers' tournament here. The scores were 8-2, 6-1.

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh

NEW YORK, July 7.—The flood tide of baseball's prosperity has been reached in the west, according to Miller Huggins, who arrived here at the head of the Yanks with a care-worn record as a club.

Record crowds greeted the Yanks everywhere, to say nothing of verbal raspberries in large, red numbers. In spite of the fact that the team has been patronized largely by hearsay at the Polo grounds, it drew more customers in the land of the setting sun, says Huggins, than it ever did in the good, glad, free-spending days of 1920 and 1921.

"I never saw such enthusiasm as was displayed, particularly in St. Louis and Detroit," Huggins declared. "Good weather and bad, they crowded the parks for nearly every game the Yanks played. Of course, St. Louis, Detroit and Chicago are up in the race and that made a difference, but in Cleveland we drew just as well. That was remarkable in view of the fact that the Indians are down in the race and Ruth was suspended for the entire series."

This is in pleasing contrast to the downright apathy with which the east is viewing both races. Judge Francis X. McQuade of the Giants is authority for the statement that National league attendance figures at the Polo grounds are far below those of the last two years. Just how far below the judge declines to state.

Bad weather, bad ball clubs in three cities and good ball clubs in the fourth might be named as the consolidated answer. Both Boston clubs have gone into reverses; so have the Phillies and Athletics, while the Senators have proved a loud detonating "bust."

The WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The strict interpretation of and adherence to the rules of golf which recently occurred in the course of play in the Northern California Professionals' Association championship which, incidentally, cost Abe Espinoza the title when he seemed almost assured of it, is meeting with the general approval of golfers. While there is sympathy for Espinoza, at the same time it is realized that he had only himself to blame.

Briefly, Espinoza was playing against Morte Dutra for the title. At a critical stage on the green of the extra hole of play, the former stooped over and pulled up something with his hand and then with his hand brushed the line of his putt. The rules plainly state that a contestant should be disqualified from the hole, and this action Referee Bob Hunter took.

As a matter of fact, in view of the importance of the match, the action of Hunter, while the right one, also was a courageous one. It was a difficult decision to render under the circumstances, and it should go a long way in the future to smooth the way for other officials. A precedent of this sort was much needed, according to golfers who are prone to look at the niceties of the game.

According to these players, there has been entirely too much disregard of the rules of the game among players and in their enforcement by officials. The fact that Dutra, in sportsmanlike fashion protested to Hunter that the breach be overlooked, was no reason for taking this action. There were no mitigating circumstances. It plainly was a thoughtless action borne of the impulse of the moment, or else it was an out and out display of ignorance of the rules of golf.

It has been claimed that there are but few golfers who are sufficiently familiar with the rules of the game to pass an examination on them which would bring them a figure of 75 out of a possible 100 per cent. How many golfers are there who have read the rules through? A canvass probably would show an astonishing number who have not done so. They have picked up the salient rules of play and decorum merely through contact and observation.

The irony in the case of Espinoza has just come to light in the story that what he picked out of the course of his putt was a four-leaf clover that he chanced to see, and which he plucked for "good luck." It is quite probable that Abe has lost his faith to some extent in this fetish. At all events, it is proof of the fact that there is a time and a place for the acquisition of this particular form of ikon.

MLLE. LENGLEN WINS

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 7. — Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the defending champion of France, won the first set from Mrs. Peacock of England, 6-4, in the semi-finals of the women's singles in the all-comers tennis championships today, but before play could be resumed in the second set rain halted the proceedings.

Mrs. Peacock made a surprisingly strong showing in the first set, forcing the fair Suzanne to the limit at times and scoring some clever placements. It is hoped that the match can be resumed later in the day.

Randolph Lycett, former Australian, advanced to the final round of the all-comers singles championships today by defeating J. B. Gilbert of England, 8-6, 9-7, 6-3. Lycett will meet the survivor of the Gerald Patterson-J. O. Anderson match in the finals.

DUNDEE WINS EASILY

NEW YORK, July 7.—Johnny Dundee retained his junior lightweight championship belt by easily disposing of Jack Sharkey in a 15-round bout at Ebbets field last night. Dundee carried the fight to his rival all the way and led by a wide margin at the finish.

DEMPSEY AND WILLARD?

NEW YORK, July 7.—It was indicated today by Tex Rickard that if negotiations are closed for a return meeting between Jack Dempsey and Jess Willard the bout will take place on September 22.

FEATHERWEIGHTS BATTLE

PARIS, July 7.—The French challenger, Eugene Criqui, is favorite over Arthur Wyns of Belgium, featherweight champion of Europe, whom he will meet tonight. It is expected that the winner will meet Johnny Kilbane, world's featherweight champion.

Fifty-two million dollars is the estimated total spent by American women every year for powdering and beautifying their faces.

ARRANGING GAME FOR LOCAL MEN

Manager John A. Cobb In Los Angeles to Secure Contest for Sunday

John A. Cobb, manager of the Glendale Merchants' Baseball club, was in Los Angeles today to book a game for Sunday afternoon through the Managers' Association, with some Los Angeles team.

"We were asked to book a game with the Tujunga Valley club, which we played Tuesday," said Manager Cobb, "but because of the undependable support which the team receives, we couldn't guarantee expenses. The Tujunga team gave us a good game on the Fourth, and I hope that some time we will be able to play them again."

Most of the Glendale games are booked through the Managers' Association in Los Angeles, but Cobb is seeking other connections, it is understood, whereby he may get teams of more nearly Glendale's calibre.

"You see, when we play a poor team, we can't seem to put over very much better ball than they do," he said, "but when we hit a good game, the team shows up pretty well. In the fall I hope to get some big stuff."

Tagging All Bases

By International News Service.

Babe Ruth's homer with the bases full was one of the shortest on record, barely falling inside the stands at the right field foul line, the shortest barrier in the major leagues. Meantime the Yanks made merry at the expense of the Indians, 10 to 3 and 11 to 3.

Ferdie Schupp, allowing three runs and six hits in five innings, is credited with winning the game in spite of the fact that Hodge, his successor, allowed only two runs and one hit in the next four innings. The answer is that the White Sox clubbed Heimach and Yarrison for five runs in the sixth before Hodge could make his official appearance.

The Giants took a fall out of the Pirates, 6 to 3, Nehf pitching Mr. Dreyfus' hired help dizzy with the exception of Carey. Max socked a double, triple and homer, but the rest of the outfield was good for exactly two hits.

Starting their western trip in a barrage of base hits, the Dodgers lost to the Cards, 14 to 2, Reuther dropping his fourth game in 18 starts.

MAKES BETTER TIME

HENLEY, England, July 7. — Walter Hoover of the Duluth Boat club, American single sculls champion, gave another impressive exhibition today in winning his second heat of the Diamond sculls from Baynes, the Australian. Hoover won in nine minutes and 25 seconds, clipping almost a minute from the time he made yesterday in disposing of Tweed.

Old French Statues Begin to Crumble

PARIS.—Venerable statues of stone, ancient reliefs, queer old gargoyles of Notre Dame and Saint-Chapelle—none of them can stand the strain of modern life in Paris.

Report has been made by experts to the proper authorities that all stone statues that have stood the test of centuries are commencing to crumble away. Here a general has lost an epaulet; there a bishop is minus his nose.

Do these monuments, solemn with age, frown upon the frivolities of twentieth century Paris? Are they weary of being stared at by endless processions of tourists?

The experts say excess smoke in the atmosphere is the true cause. Legislation restricting smoking factory chimneys may result.

French Hotels Sold to British by France

PARIS—Four important hotels in the Etoile district which formerly belonged to German proprietors have been sold by the French government to an English company, according to a report in the continental edition of the London Daily Mail. They are the Astoria, the Beau-Site, the Campbell and the Columbia. The Hotel Astoria is the headquarters of the Reparations Commission, and the recent bankers' conference on an international loan sat there also.

WILL NOT SEND TROOPS

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 7.—Governor Arthur M. Hyde declared that unless conditions become worse at Slater, where striking Chicago and Alton shopmen "deported" company employes, he will not send state troops there. The governor's announcement was made following a conference with Adjutant-General Raupp. Governor Hyde has sent Captain R. A. Johnson of Boonville National Guard company to Slater as observer.

Hundreds of Guests Flee From Flames

SANTA ROSA, Cal., July 7.—An investigation was under way today into the cause of the fire which swept Camp Meeker, picturesque Russian river resort, late last night. Hundreds of guests fled before the flames which destroyed Hotel Rusticana, one of the show places of the region, the postoffice, a large general store and the library. Fire Captain Brown of San Francisco discovered the blaze and led the volunteer fire fighters in their two hour battle to save the camp. He expressed the belief that the blaze was of incendiary origin. The loss was estimated today at between $40,000 and $50,000.

C. & S. Cafeteria to Open About July 15

The opening date of the C. & S. Cafeteria at 222 North Brand boulevard is to be about July 15, according to J. T. Stewart. It had originally planned to open much sooner but this was made impossible on account of the delayed arrival of building materials, according to Mr. Stewart. The cafeteria building is to be one of the most attractive in the business section north of Broadway. "When the cafeteria is finally opened it will be one of the finest in the city, with a seating capacity of about 150," states Mr. Stewart.

Sidney Sherland Is Getting Along Nicely

Sidney Sherland, fifteen-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sherland of 318 Patterson avenue, who was injured from a fall at the bathhouse which is being constructed at the city park, is getting along nicely, according to R. W. Biddlecom, supervisor of the city swimming pool, who called on him this morning. Sidney Sherland, with a group of boys, had been playing on the roof of the bathhouse, jumping off onto a sand pile. He was backing up getting ready to jump when he backed through the open shaft of an unfinished skylight and struck the plasterers' scaffolding and plaster boards in one of the shower rooms, according to Mr. Biddlecom.

It had originally been reported that the accident occurred by falling off a slide, but Mr. Biddlecom states that there are no slides at the new city pool.

The accident, which occurred Wednesday, resulted in Sidney Sherland receiving five broken ribs. He was unconscious for an hour before his companions notified anyone of the accident.

URGES SOLDIER BONUS

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Although recently defeated at the polls in the North Dakota primaries, Senator McCumber, a Republican leader, diverged from the tariff and cloture debate again to espouse the cause of the soldier bonus.

"I cannot see how the senators who oppose the soldiers' bonus can justify themselves before the people of the United States," McCumber declared. "Some senators are willing to spend $75,000,000 for good roads for next year and yet are unwilling to spend $75,000,000 in payment of adjusted compensation to heroes of the world war. I feel justified in my own stand on the bonus question. I believe the soldiers have a claim of justice."

W. B. Kelly Tells Of Selling Record

Who says there is a "let-up" in real estate activities in Glendale? Such a statement would indeed seem superfluous after reading the report of W. B. Kelly, who states that he sold $30,000 more property in June this year than in June last year. "This speaks well for the continued growth of Glendale," says Mr. Kelly, realtor, of 106 West Colorado street.

"A sale practically every two working days during the month shows that outsiders, even as far away as Winnipeg, Canada, are becoming residents of the fastest growing city in America," Mr. Kelly states and, continuing, says, "Plenty of high school facilities in different sections of the city will broaden and increase our growth. Too much centralization buildings will congest any educa- and money put into one group of tional center and retard the growth of any community. Expansion and broad ideals speak progress. So, let's get together 100 per cent strong, buy a high school site in the northwest section, and make the population of our city increase to 100,000 in the next ten years."

RETURN TO THEIR JOBS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—It was announced by the Southern Pacific Railway company that 434 striking shopmen returned to their jobs in the company's two general shops at Sacramento and Los Angeles on the first shift in response to the ultimatum of Superintendent J. H. Dyer that those remaining away would lose their seniority and other privileges. Additional men were expected to return on other shifts, the announcement said.

HUGE AUDITORIUM IS PLANNED FOR HIGH SCHOOL

Detailed Description Shows Structure Will Provide Room for Crowds

arch will be thirty-five feet. The heighth to the top of the proscenium arch is to be twenty-five feet. From the floor to the ceiling of the stage proper will be about sixty feet.

Between Acts

A platform eight feet wide will be constructed outside the curtain. This will permit vaudeville between the acts of a drama.

No orchestra pit is recommended because students who play in the orchestra like to see the show and be seen by the audience.

Dressing rooms and property rooms will be built under the stage with stairs leading to them from the wings.

"We have left a space for an organ," remarked Mr. Austin. "We judge this auditorium will become the music center of the community."

Only four pillars will obstruct the view of those on the first floor. These will be eighteen inches in diameter and the steel core will be incased in concrete.

Sliding doors on either side of the entrance to the auditorium can be closed at night preventing access to the rest of the building. When desired, therefore, the school can be used exclusively as a theatre.

Plenty of Exits

"We have kept the idea of a panic in mind," stated Frederick C. Ashley, chief draughtsman for John C. Austin. "We have never had one in any of the buildings which we have designed, but there is always a first time. We have provided plenty of exits both upstairs and downstairs and the whole building can be emptied in about three minutes.

Seats for the auditorium cost between $7 and $50 each. It has been estimated that they will cost altogether in the neighborhood of $50,000.

The total cost of the auditorium will range around $150,000 if built with the rest of the plant. If the building of the auditorium is delayed, an extra $50,000 will be added to the cost according to an estimate of Mr. Austin.

Principal George U. Moyse believes that an auditorium is one of the most important units about a high school plant.

H. W. Yarick of 347 West Wilson avenue, member of the board, disagrees with this attitude and believes parents send their children to school primarily to study.

"I believe in building for the future," remarked Dan Campbell, also a member of the board. "We can always get more class rooms but we can't get another auditorium."

COST RESTRICTIONS ON DWELLINGSS HELD ILLEGAL

Municipality Cannot Provide for Minimum Limit, Says City Attorney Shaw

Building restrictions specifying the minimum cost of dwellings are illegal when imposed by a municipality.

Such is the opinion of Hartley Shaw, city attorney, who rendered an opinion to this effect at last night's session of the city council.

His official communication on the subject follows:

"July 6, 1922.

"Hon. Council, City of Glendale.

"Gentlemen: You have requested me for an opinion on the question, whether in establishing first-class residential districts you can lawfully incorporate in the ordinance creating such districts a provision fixing minimum costs of dwelling houses that may be erected in such districts.

"After consideration of the matter, I am of the opinion that such a provision would violate the state and federal constitutions.

Not Justified

"Such a provision does not relate to the heighth of a building or the material of which it is to be constructed or the proportion of the lot it is to occupy. Regulations of these matters have been upheld when reasonable in character as tending to avoid danger from fire or to promote the public health by insuring a sufficient supply of light and air.

"I do not see any purpose for which the regulation proposed could serve except that of improving the appearance of the neighborhood and the courts have uniformly declined to recognize such a purpose as being sufficient to justify any restrictions upon the use which a man may make of his property.

"This principle was declared by our supreme court in Varney vs. Williams, where the court held that an ordinance prohibiting billboards was unconstitutional. The court said in regard to this ordinance:"

"'Bearing in mind that the ordinance does not purport to have any relation to the protection of passers-by from injury by reason of unsafe structures, to the diminution of hazard of fire or to the prevention of immoral displays, we find that the only ground upon which the town council may be thought to have acted is that the appearance of billboards is or may be offensive to the sight of persons of refined taste.

Radical Restriction

"'That the promotion of aesthetic or artistic considerations is a proper object of governmental care will probably not be disputed. But, so far as we are advised, it has never been held that these considerations alone will justify an exercise of the police power or a radical restriction of the right of an owner of property to use his property in an ordinary and beneficial way.

"'Such restrictions, if not a taking of property, is a damaging thereof for which under section 14 of Article One of the constitution the owner is entitled to compensation. To this extent the authorities are all in accord.

"'No action has been cited,' says the court of errors and appeals of New Jersey in the City of Passaic vs. Paterson, etc., Co., 'nor are we aware of any case which holds that a man may be deprived of his property because his tastes are not those of his neighbor.

"'Aesthetic considerations are a matter of luxury and indulgence rather than of necessity and it is necessity alone which justifies the exercise of police power to take private property without compensation.

"'In the Commonwealth vs. Boston Advertising Company an enactment forbidding the maintenance of public signs so near a parkway as to be plainly visible to the naked eye of passers in the park was held to be invalid as amounting to the taking of property for a public use without compensation.

"'Analogous in principle is the case of the city of St. Louis vs. Hill in which the court declared invalid the statute authorizing cities to establish along boulevards a building line to which all structures must conform.'

"The rule declared in this case appears to me to forbid such an ordinance as you had under consideration.

"Respectfully,
"HARTLEY SHAW,
"City Attorney."

Hotel Committee Is Given Praise

He emphasized the fact that property owners in the Verdugo Woodlands and south of Lomita avenue have not been approached yet.

Parking Ordinance

The parking ordinance came up for some discussion and a committee was elected upon motion of Herman Nelson to advise the city council that it was opposed to any parking restrictions at all, but that it would prefer a three-hour limit to a one-hour limit. Those named on this committee were Charles A. Fischer, 112 North Adams street; Charles F. Stuart, 638 East Broadway, and Robert M. McGee, 614 East Broadway.

The possible location of a new Southern Pacific station and its relation to a bridge across the Los Angeles river connecting Glendale with Griffith Park was discussed also.

E. D. Yard of 646 North Jackson street commented upon the fact that the Southern Pacific once maintained a station at Milford street which had been abandoned and that it might be re-established on the same site. He expressed an opinion that Glendale would have a cross town bus line eventually to connect the eastern part of the city with Griffith Park and that it would be very desirable to have the new bridge and the depot close together.

A committee to investigate the subject was appointed. It consists of Dr. Henry R. Harrower, 920 East Broadway; O W Tarr, 713 South Glendale avenue and K. C. Sipple, 1105 East Broadway.

GUEST OF HIS PARENTS HERE

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Morehouse and son Glen of Los Angeles were guests on Thursday night at the home of Mr. Morehouse's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Morehouse of 1000 East Lomita avenue. Mr. Morehouse, Jr., is rapidly recovering from a broken leg which he suffered while riding on a motorcycle several months ago.

CHARGE STRIKERS WITH PLOT TO BURN CARS

Chief Special Agent for the Road Makes Accusation; Mobilize Guardsmen

CHICAGO, July 7.—A plot to burn hundreds of freight cars of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in the Chicago manufacturing district was charged today by J. C. Moller, chief special agent for the road, after flames had partly wrecked one of a string of cars standing on a siding. Prompt arrival of the firemen prevented a spread of the fire.

"It's the work of strikers or sympathizers," Moller said. "If the fire had not been promptly checked it would have spread to hundreds of cars and the loss would have been appalling."

Fire Captain Hubert Classen told the police he found evidence of oil having been poured over rubbish in the car.

Mobilize National Guard

CHICAGO, July 7.—A tense situation exists in Chicago and several other sections of Illinois today as a result of disturbances growing out of the strike of railway shopmen. Sven companies of the Illinois National Guard are mobilized in down state armories ready for strike duty.

The most serious situation apparently has developed at Decatur, where an outbreak is reported to be threatened. Two guards at the Wabash railroad shops at Decatur were beaten yesterday and more trouble is feared as a result of the attempts of the Wabash shops to operate with strikebreakers.

The order for mobilization of state troops, according to General Carlos of the Decatur situation had been received.

Cavalry troops at Springfield and Urbana and infantry companies at Decatur, Danville, Champaign, Delavan and the headquarters company at Decatur have been mobilized.

The trouble at Decatur, according to reports here, arose when two shop guards attempted to prevent strikers from talking to strikebreakers whom they were seeking to dissuade from working. The guards were beaten, but were not seriously hurt.

Women Lead Mob

Extra police details were on guard in Chicago today as the result of attempts of a mob of 1500 striking shopmen, led by more than thirty women, to destroy the homes of two Illinois Central railway employes who had refused to join in the strike.

At the home of Theodore Haas, an inspector in the safety appliance division, every window in the house was broken by missiles hurled by the mob and an attempt to set fire to the dwelling was made.

From the Haas home the strikers went to the residence of John Gabel. There Mrs. Gabel met them with a leveled revolver and promised to shoot the first person who threw a stone. She held the mob at bay for twenty minutes until the police arrived.

Harding Will Try To End Coal Strike

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Vigorous steps to end the coal strike over the head of the deadlocked conference of miners and operators will be taken by President Harding on his return to Washington next Monday, a cabinet officer announced.

A proposal to bring about cessation of the strike will be made by President Harding, the cabinet official declared, although he refused to disclose the nature of the plan to be unfolded.

The proposal to be made by the president, it was stated, in all probability will end the strike in both the hard and soft coal fields.

The administration has reached the conclusion, the official declared, that vigorous steps must now be initiated by the government to protect the public interests.
